Preparing for Economic Boost

State and local community leaders turned out at the Delamar Center to celebrate Pamlico County's designation as an NC Works Certified Work Ready Community Thursday.

Staff Reports

Pamlico is one of only seven counties in the state to be designated an NC Works Certified Work Ready Community - a long title for a possible economic boom. The classification will help the county promote its workforce to businesses that may wish to locate here and indicates that Pamlico County has the skilled workforce that a business needs to operate successfully in this area.

County Manager Tim Buck, said the designation is a welcome collaboration between public and private entities to create a pathway for jobs for local high school and community college graduates.

"One of the goals of our economic development program is to assist in creating jobs, not only to support those currently in the workforce but so future graduates can stay in the area and work and the career readiness certification is a tool to assist us in accomplishing this goal. I appreciate all the hard work of those involved," said Buck.

On Thursday, November 12, community leaders gathered at Pamlico Community College's Delamar Center for the official announcement of Pamlico County's designation. The event drew both state and local speakers including Sen. Norman Sanderson; Carla Byrnes, PCC Foundation Board Member, Treasurer for Workforce Development Board and owner of BYB Yacht Designs; Tim Buck, County Manager

Grant Provides New Playground

Staff Reports

A new, accessible playground at Alliance Recreation Park in Alliance will be built in the coming year, thanks to a grant from Trillium Health Resources (Trillium). The Town received $275,000 after applying for the agency's Play Together Construction Grant for Accessible Playgrounds.

Alliance is one of 25 communities receiving playground grants from Trillium, a local government agency that manages mental health, substance use and intellectual/developmental disability services in a 24-county area.

"At the heart of our mission is making a difference in the lives of those we serve, and investing in our communities is a critical part of that mission," said Amy Corbitt, project manager, Research and Development, Trillium. "Trillium is able to reinvest savings in innovative programs and services for the betterment of our communities."

Reinvestment dollars were allocated to help communities across Trillium's service area develop accessible playgrounds that allow people of all abilities to come together.

"We strive to provide services to the individuals in our communities and our communities at large that help create productive, meaningful lives," continued Corbitt. "These playgrounds will bring our communities' children and parents together without many of the difficulties they face in their lives every day."

Trillium Health Resources is a Local Management Entity/Managed Care Organization (LME/MCO) responsible for publicly funded mental health, substance use, and intellectual/developmental disability services in eastern North Carolina.

Jam Session Draws Delighted Crowd

The Americana Stringband MIPSO held a spirited jam session on the Oriental Town Hall Front Porch Sunday afternoon.

Rising young Americana Stringband MIPSO, who performed at The Old Theater Saturday night to a sold out crowd, delighted local musicians and residents alike with a spirited jam session on the Oriental Town Hall Front Porch Sunday afternoon. Well over a hundred gathered around, taking advantage of the beautiful Fall day to enjoy the music -- requesting favorites and singing along -- as the charismatic, talented North Carolina quartet drew the crowd in with their friendly banter and brilliant four-part harmonies.

Before forming MIPSO, Jacob Sharp

(mandolin), Joseph Terrell (guitar), Wood Robinson (bass) and Libby Rodenbough (fiddle) were just classmates at UNC-Chapel Hill, where the experience of singing together in harmony drew them together. Today, they are doing their part to push the Appalachian folk tradition into new territory. The sound of their blended voices remains one of the band's hallmarks.

The outreach event and concert were presented by the Pamlico Musical Society and supported by a grant from the North Carolina Arts Council, a Division of the Department of Cultural Resources.

Several retailers have taken an early stand against Thanksgiving Day openings, saying they will keep their doors closed until Black Friday. Although the trend at first glance appears encouraging for those who say folks should spend the holiday with their families, analysts say it is unlikely to stick because Thanksgiving Day openings are very profitable. When asked whether they would be shopping on Thanksgiving and how they feel about retailers being open on the holiday, this is what people around town had to say.

Pat Ridgley of New Bern and Bernie Miller of River Bend will be celebrating with family and friends this Thanksgiving, not shopping. "But, to each his own. Everyone has a different opinion of what the holiday should be. There is great holiday shopping and gift ideas right here at the Holiday Gift Show at The New Bern Convention Center," added Pat.

Gregg and Sunday Goodwin of Freemont, Ohio who were visiting New Bern while traveling down the east coast won't be doing any holiday shopping this Thanksgiving. "The stores should be closed, especially on Thanksgiving day to allow their employees time off. If we give them Thanksgiving it will be Christmas down the road we are debating," said Gregg.

Michael Holsomback of Oriental won't be out trying to find any bargains this Thanksgiving, but says that if people are really upset about the stores being open and employees not being off then don't shop on Thanksgiving. "Regardless of how I feel, I suspect that it will be a huge day for retailers," Mike added.

Gus Anderson, visiting from Charlotte, says he is definitely not shopping on Thanksgiving but feels that retailers have the prerogative to stay open on Thanksgiving. "My opinion is that if that is the line of work you are in and you don't want to work on the holidays then find another line of work," said Gus of those employed in the retail business.

Although Barbara Avery of Bayboro won't be shopping on Thanksgiving, but knows about working on the holidays. "I work at the Piggly Wiggly and we have to stay open, so I know what it is like to work holidays, but I think employers should split the shifts so workers can have at least part of the holiday to spend with friends and family," said Barbara who was shopping with her son Johnny and Amber Ormond.

Jean Jones of Bayboro worked as a cashier for thirty years at the Piggly Wiggly in New Bern feels that the stores should be closed on the Thanksgiving holiday to give their employees time with their families. "I won't be out there shopping. I am 75 years old and currently looking for a job," said Jean.

"I won't be, but for those who enjoy shopping on Thanksgiving, its fine," said Billy Gibbs of Maribel. He feels that employees should get some time off on the holiday to spend time with family and friends like he plans to do.

WEEKLY HOROSCOPE

Aries (March 21-April 19)
This is another week where you have to bite your tongue when dealing with partners and close friends because Mars is opposite your sign. And remember - Mars is your ruler and denotes fiery energy! Right now this energy is opposite you, creating tension between you and others. It makes it difficult for you to give in or compromise. On the positive side, it makes it easy for you to air your differences. Fortunately, fair Venus will ameliorate these negative forces because Venus promotes affection and a mutual bonding. So it will be an intense, passionate week with lots of make up sex. "I love you." "I hate you." "I love you." "I hate you!"

Taurus (April 20-May 20)
This is the last week that the Sun and Mercury will be opposite your sign. This will not occur again for another year. This means that as you work hard to bring your affairs to a climax, others will oppose you. Be especially careful with bosses and people in authority. It's been six months since your birthday, and where you have prepared carefully - you will succeed. But this can also be a time of failure - little failures - because of all this opposition to you. These little failures might have occurred in the last few months, but the truth of them now is becoming clear to you. At this stage in your life, you are learning to rely more on yourself, which is a good thing since you are approaching a career peak in your life in 2020. Hang in there!

Gemini (May 21-June 20)
Lucky you! Venus and Mars are still in a fun part of your chart for the rest of the month promoting romance, love affairs, parties, social occasions, fine dining, the theatre and the good life. (Venus can do that.) Meanwhile, Mars will invigorate your playful energy, making you competitive and aggressive in your approach to fun and romance. (For the rest of the year!) Mars is connected to your desire nature, especially physical lovemaking, which means you feel hot and sexy! And attractive! Hey, if you feel attractive, then you are attractive because that's how it works. Nevertheless, you still have your nose to the grindstone as you work hard to get better organized.

Cancer (June 21-July 22)
Like Gemini, you have lots of playful opportunities. That's because the Sun is going through your Fifth House encouraging you to get out and have a good time! You want to be free to express yourself. You feel lighter than usual about everything and your interest in romance, children's activities, the arts, vacations and social diversions is strong. Naturally, you will seek out fun-loving friends and acquaintances. Meanwhile, continue to redecorate and tweak your digs to make your home more beautiful because this will please you. Real-estate opportunities look good. Find some of your delicious recipes because this is a great week to entertain at home. Yummers!

Leo (July 23-Aug. 22)
For the next week, your focus continues to be on home, family and your domestic life. This is fine because you have some home repairs you want to see done - preferably by someone else and preferably for free. Venus and Mars are still in the part of your chart that influences your style of communicating with others. Mars makes you aggressive. (Yeah, you've been in attack mode for the last week or so.) That's because Mars makes you identify with your beliefs right now. On the upside, it helps you to sell, market, write, teach and act because you will put so much of yourself into what you have to say. "Now hear this!"

Virgo (Aug. 23-Sept. 22)
Your busy pace continues with short trips, conversations with everyone, errands plus increased reading, writing and studying. Interactions with siblings will be important. All this activity is stimulating! If you can grab a quick vacation - you'll love it. This is the perfect time to tell others what you feel about something. But remember, it's hard to keep your shirt on when you need to get something off your chest. Oy! You will spend big on certain items now because you identify with what you own. You also want to make what you own work for you. Financial opportunities look good. You can make more money now as well as spend it. Ka-ching!

Libra (Sept. 23-Oct. 22)
Venus will stay in your sign for the rest of the month, and Mars will stay in your sign for the rest of the year. What does this mean? Well, Mars represents aggressive energy, and when it lines up with your sign, it makes you work hard to further your own interests and assert yourself. You'll have no trouble going after what you want. Mars boosts your energy and makes it easy to work harder and longer. But Mars is independent and does not like to be bossed around, so you will be touchy if others tell you what to do! Yup. This energy lasts for the rest of the year. Fortunately, Venus is around for the rest of the month softening rough edges. Coochy coo!

Scorpio (Oct. 23-Nov. 21)
Make the most of this last week with the Sun in your sign because the Sun boosts your energy and attracts favourable situations and people to you. With Mercury in your sign as well, you're busy schmoozing. "Shops must be visited. Money must be spent!" Meanwhile, Venus and Mars are now hidden in your chart, encouraging secret love affairs and clandestine activities. (Right up your alley.) Actually, Mars will be hidden in your chart for the rest of the year, which makes it tough for you to get credit for what you do. It also brings out old habit patterns and self-defeating acts that you thought were history. Unconsciously, you might be your own worst enemy for the next few months. If you are upset with others - instead, look inward. Confront yourself.

Sagittarius (Nov. 22-Dec. 21)
Has it occurred to you lately that nothing has occurred to you lately? For the last month, the Sun and Mercury have been "hiding" in your chart, encouraging you to work alone or behind the scenes. To counter this, Sun encourages activities with artistic, creative friends; while Mars encourages competition and physical activity in sports. "He shoots, he scores!" Just bide your time because on Sunday, Nov. 22, the Sun will return to your sign for the first time in a year, giving you a chance to recharge your batteries big time. Your life will go from being hidden - to being front and centre. "Look at me, everyone!"

Capricorn (Dec. 22-Jan. 19)
Your ambition will be aroused for the rest of this year, which means you intend to go after what you want and get it. Oh yeah. The only downside is you might steamroll over others and create tension with bosses because they feel threatened by your efforts to get ahead. Fortunately, for the rest of this month, fair Venus will soften things; and even promote a romantic relationship with a boss or someone richer. (A wealthy partner is a wonderful labour-saving device.) This continues to be a popular week. Enjoy the company of younger people. Share your hopes and dreams with others to get their feedback.

Aquarius (Jan. 20-Feb. 18)
For one more week, the Sun is at the top of your chart casting a "flattering" light on you, which is why others think you are so capable. Don't do anything to dissuade them of this notion. Travel opportunities continue for the rest of the month; and indeed, for the rest of the year, you will push your chances to explore more of life through further education, courses, travel, talking to people from different backgrounds and exploring your own backyard. This is still a great time to talk to bosses and authority types. Just schmooze and let them admire you. I'm serious. It's all smoke and mirrors.

Pisces (Feb. 19-March 20)
For the next week, you continue to be excited about travel plans and exploring publishing, the media, medicine, the law and higher education. Meanwhile, both the Sun and Mercury want you to expand your world. Now, the question is will you be able to do this? Well, yes! Both Venus and Mars are activating one of your Money Houses, which means the wealth and resources of others will help you travel or reach out for new experiences that will expand your life. Naturally, partners and close friends continue to be supportive, as they will be for the next 12 months. Yes - you're here today and here tomorrow.

ROSEBUDS MASSAGE THERAPY DEBUT

502 Main Street, Oriental
Anytime between 2:30pm - 4:30 Sat.
Enjoy tea, wine and cheese.
Meet me, Carlee, and see what ROSEBUDS has to offer you.

Pamlico Animal Welfare Society (PAWS)

"NEW LEASH ON LIFE" Program - Everyone deserves a second chance"

PAWS rescues adoptable shelter dogs and pairs them with inmate trainers at the Pamlico Correctional Institution. The inmates learn patience, responsibility and teamwork along with new, marketable skills. The dogs are vetted, vaccinated and altered, house, crate and leash trained, and receive basic and advanced obedience, agility and rally training. These well-behaved companions graduate every eight weeks, ready to join new, forever families - maybe yours?

I'm Skipper and recently I've been on a voyage that had a rough start. Now however, I found my way into Pamlico's New Leash on Life training program. I'll be graduating Jan. 6th and at around a year old we'll have a long happy go lucky life ahead. Sometimes, I have a very serious and observant side that might remind you more of the professor on Gilligan's Island. Nothing gets past me and I'm very brave. You could come rescue this castaway and help me to find a home. I'm a small mixed breed consisting of Chihuahua and Dachshund.

I'm Ginger and I've been told my Hollywood good looks and graceful disposition could get me a role in the movies. Whoever said good looks and smarts couldn't be found in the same dog, well they're just wrong. I'm very smart and will do whatever it takes to please my family. I'm about year old and must be a mix of Pomeranian and some other dog that has blended to look like a Papillion. won't tell my secret but, you can do a DNA test and find out for yourself. I'll be graduating from Pamlico's New Leash on Life program on Jan 6th. All NLOL dogs are UTID with vaccines, spayed/neutered, heartworm tested, and flea free. Crate trained and house broken, so that after our 8 weeks of training we'll make great companions. All adopting families are able to attend their doggie's graduation.

If you're interested in adopting a NLOL dog contact Jackie Schmidt at 649-5504 or Penny Monell at 249-1453. You can also email PAWS at mail.pamlicopaws.net and download an adoption application at pamlicopaws.net on the individual dog's page.

PAWS provides low-cost spay and neuter assistance to those needing help to "fix" their pets. We issue vouchers for use at local vets, or at the Spay Today clinic in Greenville.

Our mission is to reduce the pet overpopulation problem in Pamlico County and surrounding areas by preventing hundreds of unwanted, innocent animals from being born. They are often neglected, abandoned or killed in shelters so altering your pets before they breed is the humane and common-sense solution.

We are here to help! Take action today!

"The Trouble with Harry" at Friday Flicks

The trouble with Harry is he's dead . . . One morning, in a forested area near the village of Highwater, Vermont, young Arnie Rogers (Jerry Mathers) is playing when he stumbles across the body of a dead man and runs home to tell his mom. Three townspeople are convinced they are responsible for the man's death: Capt. Albert Wiles (Edmund Gwenn) thinks he accidentally shot the man while hunting rabbits; the local spinster, Miss Ivy Gravely (Mildred Natwick) thinks she may have done more damage than she intended when she hit him with her shoe; and the man's ex-wife, Arnie's mom, Jennifer (Shirley MacLaine), most damningly of all, reveals that it might have been her too. As the no-nonsense sheriff (Royal Dano) becomes involved, free-thinking artist Sam Marlowe (John Forsythe) becomes a good-natured sleuth, helping them to bury, dig up and rebury the corpse in an effort to evade the authorities and discover the truth about Harry.

Based on the novel by Jack Trevor Story, The Trouble with Harry (1955) is a New England romp that includes suspense, humor and romance. Directed by the master of suspense, Alfred Hitchcock proves the range of his genius with a decidedly different work. The date is Friday, Nov. 20 - box office and door opens at 6:30 p.m., movie starts at 7:30 p.m. Admission is $5.50 and includes free popcorn available at the Old Theater box office on movie night. Don't Forget we will start with a Cartoon and the next episode of The Complete Adventures of Flash Gordon.

All proceeds of Friday Flicks go to the support of The Old Theater, a non-profit organization. Visit www.OldTheater.org for a complete list of upcoming films, events, leasing and membership information and more—like volunteering behind the scenes on a theater-sponsored event!

PCC Events Highlight Potential for Students, County

By Townley Cheek

This past week, the Delamar Center at Pamlico Community College was filled with students, family members, faculty and staff, and community leaders for two significant events that recognized student hard work and community potential.

On Tuesday, November 10, the Pamlico Community College Foundation hosted the seventh annual Scholarship Recognition Ceremony. There were over 60 scholarship recipients recognized with over 17 scholarship contributors presenting the gift of education to their respective recipients.

On Thursday, November 12, Pamlico Community College hosted the NC Works Certified Work Ready Community announcement event for Pamlico County. There were over 30 people in attendance, including many elected officials.

For Pamlico Community College, the Scholarship Recognition Ceremony is one of the most meaningful events the college hosts. "This past year, we had an almost unprecedented amount of students attend – it's so good to see our scholarship recipients get to interact with our donors," says Brandi McCullough, Director of Planning, Research & Effectiveness / SACSCOC Liaison. "This is where community support and academic excellence converge. It really is heart-warming," she continues.

Wesley Barnes, former Marine and Electrical Systems Technology program success student, is a recipient of the PCC Foundation General Scholarship. "I was uncomfortable going back to school, but with the support of faculty and staff, as well as the Foundation's scholarship, I felt more confident in my abilities," Barnes states. "I just jumped right into it and never looked back."

For Pamlico County, the NC Works Certified Work Ready Community designation will serve as an effective tool for industry recruitment and jobs creation. "This designation will help the county market its workforce to businesses that may wish to locate here," says Eric Cedars, Director of the Pamlico County Career Center. "It indicates that Pamlico County has the skilled workforce that a business needs to operate successfully in this area."

Without the collaboration and partnership of Pamlico County's Office of Economic Development, The Eastern Carolina Workforce Development Board, Pamlico Community College, Pamlico County Chamber of Commerce, and Pamlico County Schools, this designation would not have been possible. "This designation is just one piece of an ongoing, unified strategic effort to meet the needs of existing industry, aid in the recruitment of new businesses and industries, and meet jobs creation goals in Pamlico County," says Beth Bucksot, Pamlico County Economic Developer.

Both the Scholarship Recognition Ceremony and Certified Work Ready Community designation signify a time of growth and advancement for current and future PCC students and Pamlico County as a whole.

The scholarships given to PCC students reward their hard work in the classroom, and the education the scholarships provide help students to dream big and achieve greatness in the working world. Now, with help of the Work Ready Community designation, Pamlico County can make that dream a reality.

This holiday season, give a student the gift of education. Education is a gift that once earned, can never be taken away. Donate to the Pamlico Community College Foundation's Mariners Campaign today and help give back. Help Pamlico Community College and the Pamlico Community College Foundation educate and train the future leaders of tomorrow. For more information, please contact Brandi McCullough at 252-249-1851 x 3010 or bmccullough@pamlico-ccc.edu.

County

and Pat Prescott, County Commissioner Chair.

The NC Works Certified Work Ready Community is a collaborative effort between workforce development partners, including the Office of the Governor, the North Carolina Chamber Foundation, the North Carolina Department of Public Instruction, the North Carolina Community College System Office and the North Carolina Department of Commerce, aimed at leveraging data and analysis tools to continue economic growth in North Carolina. The North Carolina Chamber Foundation serves as the final certifying body to designate an NC Works Certified Work Ready Community.

The designation is designed to also help the community by aligning workforce training programs and economic development. The designation is based, in part, on the number of individuals in the County that have attained a National Career Readiness Certificate (NCRC) which assists individuals to demonstrate to employers that they have a certain skill set needed to gain employment. The certificate also helps to identify vital skill gaps that can be filled through local educators and assists employers to improve their hiring, training and promotion processes.

Pamlico County's Office of Economic Development, The Eastern Carolina Workforce Development Board, Pamlico Community College, Pamlico County Chamber of Commerce, and Pamlico County Schools worked together to ensure that Pamlico County met the criteria to receive this status. This partnership is part of an ongoing alliance on workforce development, and jobs creation, to benefit communities, existing business and industry, as well as, aid in the recruitment and startup of new businesses.

Eric Cedars, Director of the PCC Career Center, organized the ad hoc committee for the event and according to him the designation will aid in economic development by showing to employers that may locate in the area that Pamlico County has the skilled workforce they need. "It will also help in career development because part of the criteria for certification is that a minimum number of individuals in the county must attain an NCRC Certificate which shows employers that an individual has the skills needed to fill a specific position.

"I have already found this to be a beneficial tool for industry recruitment and jobs creation. Being a NC Work Ready Certified Community is part of what we are doing to create the types of jobs that make it possible for young families to thrive in Pamlico County, allow others to move home, attract new families and businesses and increase the economic activity in our County and region," says Beth Bucksot, Pamlico County Economic Developer. "This is just one piece of an ongoing, unified strategic effort to meet the needs of existing business and industry as well as to aid in the recruitment of new businesses and industries that align with economic development, workforce training, and jobs creation goals in Pamlico County.

This initiative provides a framework to empower counties with the data, processes and tools that drive economic growth. The framework aligns education, workforce development and industry while matching individuals' skills to job requirements.

The statewide rollout follows criteria established in the North Carolina Eastern Region (now NC East Alliance) Work Ready Communities pilot program which began in 2011.

This certification is important to Pamlico County, as it will align education and business interests to help prepare students for the jobs of tomorrow. Business can get more information and pledge their support here: www.workreadycommunities.org. More information about the efforts in NC can also be found here: nchamber.net/foundation/networks-certified-work-ready-communities/.

Lots of Stuffing, Dressing and Other Things for Your Thanksgiving Table

OLD-FASHIONED BREAD DRESSING

- 1 loaf (or more) white day-old bread
- Turkey stock
- Celery, finely chopped, to taste
- Onions, finely chopped, to taste
- Butter or margarine (to sauté vegetables)
- 1 stick butter or margarine, melted
- Sage to taste
- Pepper and salt to taste
- Canned chicken broth, if more is needed

Put enough butter or margarine in a skillet to sauté the onions and celery until crisp-tender. In a large mixing bowl, tear the bread into pieces, using the edges, too. Add the sautéed onions and celery and toss to blend. Pour in turkey stock until dressing has consistency of a loose cake batter. (I usually mix stock from turkey with the canned chicken broth so I'll be sure to have enough turkey stock for gravy.) Add the melted butter or margarine to the dressing and blend well. Season with sage, salt and pepper and place in large baking dish or two small baking dishes. Bake in 350 degree oven until dressing begins to turn a light golden brown and is crisp around the edges. As the dressing bakes, you may need to pour a little more stock or broth over the top if it seems to be drying out.

NOTE: This dressing is not the firm type that you can cut into squares. The consistency of the dressing should be so moist with stock that it requires a serving spoon. If desired, chopped fresh oysters may be added to the scrumptious dressing before baking.

CAJUN CORNBREAD DRESSING

Great dressing to serve with fish or wild game or that holiday turkey, too.

- 1 pound smoked sausage, cut into bite-size pieces
- 2 cups onions, finely chopped
- 1 cup celery, finely chopped
- 1 large green pepper, finely chopped
- 1 large red pepper, finely chopped
- 2 cloves garlic, minced
- 6 cups crumbled cornbread
- 5 cups crumbled biscuits or toasted dry bread
- 1/2 cup chopped fresh parsley
- 1/2 teaspoon oregano
- 1/2 teaspoon thyme
- 1/2 teaspoon pepper
- 1/4 teaspoon cayenne pepper
- 4 or 5 cups chicken or turkey broth (or more, if needed)

Heat oven to 375 degrees. Grease a 9x13x2-inch baking dish. In a large skillet, cook the sausage about 5 minutes and then add the onions, celery, peppers and garlic and cook and stir until sausage is browned and vegetables are tender. In a large mixing bowl, combine the sausage and vegetable mixture with remaining ingredients. Stir to coat well. Spoon mixture into well greased baking dish and bake for about 45 to 50 minutes or until golden brown. Serves 12.

OYSTER DRESSING

- 3 cups soft breadcrumbs
- 1/8 teaspoon pepper
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1/4 to 1/2 cup finely chopped celery
- Fresh chopped parsley, to taste
- 1/2 cup finely chopped onions
- 1 cup oysters (about)
- 1/2 cup liquor from oysters (adding water, if necessary, to make 1/2 cup)
- 1/2 cup butter, plus 1 tablespoon, melted
- Turkey stock or canned chicken broth (or a combination of the two)

In a small skillet, heat the 1 tablespoon butter and sauté the celery and onions until tender but not browned. In a large bowl, combine all ingredients, including the onions and celery and toss to blend. Add enough turkey stock or canned chicken broth to achieve a very, very moist mixture. Place in a well greased baking dish and bake in 250 degree oven until golden brown. If you're having a crowd around your holiday table, double recipe.

TRADITIONAL CORNBREAD DRESSING

- 1 cup finely chopped onions
- 1 cup finely chopped celery
- 5 cups crumbled cornbread (make your own or use a cornbread mix and prepare according to directions)
- 5 cups crumbled biscuits (make your own from scratch or use biscuit mix and prepare according to directions)
- 2 teaspoons sage
- 1/2 teaspoon thyme
- 1/2 teaspoon black pepper
- 1/2 cup chopped fresh parsley
- 5 cups turkey stock (or a combination of turkey stock and canned chicken broth)
- 1 stick (1/2 cup) butter or margarine

In a large skillet, sauté the onions and celery in the butter or margarine. In a large mixing bowl combine remaining ingredients and then add the sautéed mixture of onions, celery and butter. Blend thoroughly and then spoon mixture into a well greased 9x13x2-inch baking dish or pan and bake in 375 degree oven until browned. Serves 10-12.

CORNBREAD DRESSING TO SERVE WITH WILD GAME

- 1 stick butter or margarine
- 1 cup finely chopped green onions
- 5 cups crumbled cornbread
- 2-1/2 cups crumbled biscuits or a mixture of crumbled biscuits and bread
- 2 medium green or red peppers, roasted, peeled and chopped (directions follow)
- 1 can (4-oz.) chopped green chilies
- 1/2 teaspoon black pepper
- 2 cans (14-1/2-oz. each) canned beef broth

Heat oven to 450 degrees. Grease a 9x13x2-inch baking dish. In a large skillet, cook the onions in butter or margarine until tender - about 3 minutes. In a large mixing bowl, combine the cooked onions and butter with remaining ingredients. Stir gently. Spoon into greased baking dish and bake in 450 degree oven for 30 minutes or until golden brown. Serves 8. Roasted Peppers: Remove stem and seeds, cut into quarters. Place skin-side-up on a foil-covered baking sheet or broiler pan. Brush lightly with oil. Broil close to heat source until pepper skin is blistered and blackened. Place peppers in plastic bag - seal tightly. Place in freezer about 15 minutes. Remove from freezer. Using your fingers or small knife, gently peel skin off peppers. Or, the peppers may be diced and cooked with onions instead of roasting.

SCALLOPED OYSTERS

- 1 pint oysters, drained and liquid reserved
- 2 cups coarsely crushed saltine crackers
- Salt to taste
- 1 stick butter
- 1/8 teaspoon pepper
- 2-1/2 cups half-and-half cream

Generously butter a 2-quart baking dish. The above ingredients are sufficient for two layers. Spread half the crackers crumbs, half the oysters in the prepared dish and dot with half the butter, sprinkle with salt and pepper. Pour half the cream over the top.

Repeat. After pouring the remaining cream over the top, add the liquid from the oysters with remaining butter (using more butter, if needed). Bake in 375 degree oven for about 30 or 35 minutes or until oysters have reached desired texture. Serves 4.

NOTE: If doubling recipe, use two 2-quart baking dishes or one larger one. You don't want any more layers than two.

HOLIDAY OYSTER CASSEROLE

- 1 pint oysters
- 1 tablespoon butter or margarine
- 8 hard-cooked eggs, sliced
- 2 cups grated Swiss cheese
- 1 can condensed cream of mushroom soup
- 1 cup thinly sliced onions
- 1 teaspoon prepared mustard
- 1/3 cup half-and-half cream
- 1/4 teaspoon pepper
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1/4 teaspoon dill

Heat oven to 350 degrees. Chop oysters, reserving about 1/3 cup of the liquor. In a small skillet, cook and stir onions in butter until onions are tender. Spread mixture in well buttered baking dish. Top with sliced eggs and sprinkle with cheese. In a bowl, combine remaining ingredients, including the oyster liquor, together and blend until thoroughly mixed. Pour mixture over the cheese mixture in the baking dish. Bake for 30 to 35 minutes or until heated through and bubbly hot. Serves 6.

WILD RICE CASSEROLE

- 2 cups uncooked wild rice
- 1 can (no. 2) tomatoes, mashed and undrained
- 1/2 stock butter or margarine, melted
- 1/2 pound Cheddar cheese, grated
- 12 stuffed olives
- 2 large cans mushrooms

Rub baking dish with butter. Combine all above ingredients and mix well. Place in prepared baking dish and bake in 350 degree oven for about 1-1/2 hours. If desired, place extra grated cheese on top and return to oven until cheese melts. Serves 12.

SWEET POTATO PUDDING

- 2 cups grated raw sweet potatoes
- 2 eggs
- 1 cup sugar
- 1 cup milk
- 1 teaspoon cinnamon
- 1 teaspoon nutmeg
- 1/4 teaspoon salt
- 4 tablespoons butter or margarine, melted

Mix all ingredients together except the melted butter and blend thoroughly. Blend in melted butter and mix well. Pour mixture into a generously buttered baking dish and bake in 350 degree oven for about 1 hour.

NOTE: Pass a small pitcher of heavy cream to drizzle over the top, if desired.

PUMPKIN DELIGHT

This is just great!

- Vanilla pudding mix (3-1/4-oz.) - do not use instant
- 1/4 cup sugar
- 1/4 teaspoon cinnamon
- 1/4 teaspoon ginger
- 1/8 teaspoon cloves
- 1 cup solid pack pumpkin
- 1-1/2 cups milk
- Large carton whipped topping, thawed
- 1/2 cup chopped pecans

Emma Lee was awarded the honor of Band Student of the Quarter for the seventh grade, Pamlico County Middle School. Congratulations Emma!

Gary Mayo and Buddy Rice drove to Raleigh Thursday to have repairs made on musical equipment. I'm sure they had a nice lunch somewhere.

Amber and Rhonda came to supper and brought something Friday night. We had a nice time. Saturday Mark, Jenny and Jenna came to clean up the yard. Then Gary and Rhonda came and joined in. Lil' Shirley and Violet & Holly stopped by and helped rake some straw. Jenna & Holly put a new message on the board. I sure appreciate everything they do. My yard looks good and Rhonda vacuumed the floors!

Speaking of the sign at the corner. People haven't been calling. I guess they don't think I want to mess with it, but I will be glad to put up messages, if not, one of the youngsters' will!

On November 16, 1915, Annis Lupton was born to James and Betsy Wise Lupton of Pamlico. Yes, if she was still alive, my mother would be 100 years old today. In relative terms, Mother died young as she was only 60 when she died. These past forty years without her have not diminished my love for her or my vivid memories of her as a very special person. Her life lives on in me and my children and our memories.

On November 16, one hundred years later, John and Penny Farmer celebrated 30 years of marriage. They also celebrated Veteran's Day at the Asheboro Zoo last week with their granddaughter, Lily.

Sunday morning it was chilly but not overcast. I had not been feeling the best this week so decided to go to Camp Don Lee for their Sunday Dinner. I invited my sister Mildred and her husband to join us for lunch. I figured they could make it to Pamlico by the time we could get there from church. I walked the dog and played with him a little bit as I waited for everyone to arrive at the farm. We left the farm at 1:00, but I figured, no problem, they are serving lunch until 2:30 pm. As we drove onto Camp Don Lee at about 1:20, we were stopped by a nice young man who I supposed was going to tell us where to park. Alas, I was wrong. He informed us that they were out of food. He asked us to come back on December 6th or 13th. I know I cannot make it back those days due to events at church, but even more disappointing was the fact that I had invited guests who were really getting hungry. He explained that after the turkey was gone, they had cooked all the chicken they had, but even that was all gone now.

As we turned around to go back to Oriental, there were several other cars pulling in behind us and they too were turned away. We met even more on Don Lee Road that were headed in the direction of camp as well. I am glad it was a sellout crowd for Don Lee, but I can never ever remember being turned away from lunch on a Sunday Dinner Day. To say I was disappointed is putting it mildly.

It was too late to go back to Bayboro, so M&M's got some extra business on Sunday. They also got some extra business from the AME Zion Church in Aurora, because they did not know Brantley's did not open on Sundays and they too ended up at M&M's. All in all, it was a Sunday blessing for M&M's and wouldn't you know it, I ran into a student I had taught Algebra 2 in 2005.

Don't forget the Community Thanksgiving Service at St. Peter the Fisherman on White Farm Road at 7:00 pm, November 22, 2015. The Chorale will provide special music. This is a service for all ages, all denominations, regardless of where or how you choose to worship. Fellowship after the service is encouraged.

Plan to be thankful before you get into the Spirit of Christmas. Celebrating birthdays in November are Kevin Rodgers (11/23), Kari Hudgins and Jerry Harper (11/28) and Frank Maness (11/29).

On November 23, Mary Clyde and Ernest Dunn will celebrate 42 years of marriage.

Have a blessed week. Lonely? Take Spiritual Vitamin L. "Teaching them to observe all things whatsoever I have commanded you: and, lo, I am with you always, even unto the end of the world. Amen." (Matthew 28:20)

Busy Monday morning here at the Tiller house. Terry Prescott's crew is putting pilings for our dock that has taken a beating in the last storms, Ken and Jacob are trimming shrubbery and mowing although it really is still too wet.

On Sunday Aaron, Misty and Ellie Rogers from Canton attend Bethel. Aaron is the new walking horse trainer for Chris and Debbie Fulcher. We welcome them to our community.

Saturday night we picked up food from Paradise Cove and it was delicious! If you have not eaten there you should try it. We had four different dishes and they were all excellent!

On Sunday afternoon Woodmen Life treated about fifteen members to Evita, the play in New Bern. It was very good and then we had dinner with two ladies from Morehead at Rattys.

Barbra's Beauty Shop is a little further off the road, but drive between Napa and the Internet Cafe and her shop is almost behind the Internet Cafe.

Praise for Ol' Front Porch Music Festival

We congratulate and say many thanks to Dottie Osmun, Leslie Kellenberger and their many committees for their hard work and instrumentation of placing 28 musical groups on 18 porches plus the two "Headliner" groups down near the riverfront on the afternoon of the "Ol' Front Porch Music Festival" October 17. A delightful day was had by the thousand plus who attended. The musicians did well in their tip jars, and the craft and food vendors were very pleased by their sales.

Kudos again. We are looking forward to next year's festival on October 15, 2016.

Annual Axelson Food Drive Underway

For several years now, we have had a holiday Food Drive to help stock Pamlico County Fishes & Loaves' food pantry. Due to the generosity of our patients and the successful results in previous years, we would like to extend an invitation to everyone this year. If you are a current patient, former patient or even a new patient who we haven't met yet, we'd like to invite you to bring in 20 pounds of non-perishable food to Axelson Chiropractic on Hwy. 55 in Alliance. In return, you will receive a Chiropractic adjustment free of charge.

According to Alice Sontag, Director of Pamlico County Fishes & Loaves (PCFLO), "Canned goods are always welcome, but there is frequently a shortage of dried food such as rice, beans, pasta, spaghetti and macaroni and cheese. Other items typically needed are canned meats, cereal and peanut butter."

We always look forward to helping PCFLO stock their pantry but, especially during the holiday season. Please call us at 745-0334 for more details or to make an appointment. This offer expires Thursday,

December 17, 2015. (If you decide to purchase additional services, you have the right to change your mind within 3 days and receive a full refund.)

Veterans Can Record Discharges Free

I would like to let our Veterans know their military discharges (DD214s) can be recorded free of charge in their local Register of Deeds office and certified copies will be issued free of charge no matter how many or how often one is needed.

In 2004 legislation was passed exempting these records from public inspection and access except to persons authorized by NCGS 47-113.2(b)(1). Veterans do not have to worry about the public being able to retrieve their sensitive information. Any veteran wishing to record or obtain a copy of their discharge must present a valid ID and must appear in person.

Obtaining a duplicate copy can be frustrating and time consuming should the original record ever be lost or destroyed, but having it recorded can save the Veteran time and energy. In the event of the death of the veteran, a copy can be obtained more quickly should the family be unable to locate the Veterans copy. While there are restrictions to who may retrieve this information, the Veterans Services Officer is available to assist.

If you have questions or would like more information, please call the Pamlico County Register of Deeds office at 252-745-4421.

Lynn H. Lewis, Pamlico County Register of Deeds

Thanks for the Support

The Oriental Dragon Boat Club extends our sincerest thanks to the people of Oriental and the county who supported us by purchasing tickets for the Octoberfest fundraiser on October 3rd.

Unfortunately the threatening hurricane, torrential rains and high water forced us to make the decision to cancel the event.

We truly appreciate your support; and for those of you who treated your ticket cost as a donation, we are very grateful for your generosity.

We look forward to contributing back to the community in the coming year and to representing Oriental in upcoming Dragon Boat competitions.

Coffee, Tea or Controversy?

Maureen Donald
The Editor's Desk

There has been a lot in the news this week - to say the least. The presidential candidates continue to spar with each other. There's been confirmation that it was a bomb aboard the Russian jetliner that killed all. Students and faculty are debating the meaning of diversity and free speech at Yale and the University of Missouri. And of course at the top of the list are the horrific events in Paris this past weekend. It is remarkable then, that Starbucks captured so much attention for its holiday cup. It is just a cup, after all. But unlike previous years the coffee giant's traditional red cup is just red - no snowflakes, stars, or snowmen.

This apparently outraged many people who obviously missed snowflakes, stars and snowmen and took it as a direct slam against Christmas. Various media outlets covered the dispute in depth. Even presidential candidate Donald Trump addressed the issue at a recent rally - of course, Trump responds to any and everything.

Starbucks released the holiday cups on November 1 and it only took five days for the controversy to gain steam. Within days, the issue dominated the headlines. More than 15 million people (honest) have watched a video criticizing the now famous red cup, and more than 500,000 people shared it. In less than five days, the issue became one of the top stories in the country. It seems we're in a cultural debate over a red cup.

Who could have anticipated that a new cup design would prompt such an outcry? The controversy certainly caught Starbucks by surprise - or so they say (more on that in a minute). Only after the issue developed did Starbucks release a statement noting that with the new design, "Starbucks is inviting customers to create their own stories with a red cup that mimics a blank canvas." Scrambling to put a positive spin on it? I think not.

This isn't the first time Starbucks, one of the largest and most visible corporations in the world, has created a bit of controversy - or at least on social media. Consider last year's pumpkin spice controversy or this year's widely criticized RaceTogether campaign, the newest outcry seems a lot more contentious and definitely, if not more, visible.

In case you're not a Starbucks fan (truth is, I'm not so much) every year Starbucks welcomes the holiday season with the introduction of its red holiday cup. The event is so popular and anticipated, it has even given rise to countdown clocks - I kid you not. More impressively, according to Starbucks, "within the first 48 hours of red Starbucks cups launching last year, a photo of a Starbucks holiday cup was shared on Instagram every 14 seconds." I remind you, this is a paper coffee cup.

Back to the beginning. In previous years the Starbucks holiday cup has been red with a variety of holiday designs (none that said Merry Christmas, by the way). This year, however, Starbucks announced its decision to pursue a fresh new design and feature a cup that was solid red with its traditional green logo - a minimalist approach one could say.

According to the Starbucks' vice president of design and content, "This year we wanted to usher in the holidays with a purity of design that welcomes all of our stories."

Unfortunately (maybe), Starbucks quickly got chastised on social media, accused of being overly politically correct and aiming to destroy Christmas. And as the outcry peaked, the issue caused many Starbucks supporters to come forward setting up still more "chat-ter." Bad news for Starbucks - right? Not even close.

Look at it this way. With a market worth of about $92 billion (have you checked out the cost of a cup of Starbucks coffee?), the company is not what you call a small. It's clear that it has ample resources for marketing. The company employs some of the industry's most creative marketers who clearly deliberated and understood the potential ramifications of this new campaign. So why would they undertake such a campaign if they knew it would get such a negative response? Simple - publicity.

Consider the fact that even (did I say "even"?) celebrities chimed in on issue. You can't pay for that kind of publicity.

Personally I think "Red Cup Gate" is probably one of the more successful "slips" Starbucks has made.

Oops. Duped again - the public, that is.

Making Sense of Investing

Dan M. Roberts, IV
Financial Advisor

Thanksgiving is just around the corner. And like all holidays, this one has plenty of traditions, such as Macy's Thanksgiving Day Parade (started in 1924) and football (the first broadcast Thanksgiving Day game was played between the Detroit Lions and the Chicago Bears in 1934). Traditions are important, and you may want to establish some in one of the key activities of your own life: investing.

So, what sort of investment traditions could you start? Here are a few ideas:

- Invest regularly. By definition, engaging in a tradition means performing the same acts over and over. This type of behavior can impose discipline and consistency to your investing. For example, consider contributing the same amount of money each month to the same investments. When the price of these investments is down, your contribution will pay for more shares - in other words, you'll be "buying low," one of the key principals of investing.

And when the price of your investments is up, you'll be a savvy enough investor to buy fewer shares. Over a long period, this technique can help lower the per-share price of your investments, but it does not guarantee a profit or protect against loss. To make it easier to follow through, you could set up monthly, automatic purchases of these investments from your checking or savings account.

- Increase 401(k) contributions when you get a raise. Why not make it a tradition to boost your contributions to your 401(k) or other employer-sponsored plan every time your salary increases? Your 401(k) is a great way to save for retirement, as your contributions are typically made with pretax dollars, resulting in lower taxable income, and your earnings can grow on a tax-deferred basis. Even if you don't reach the contribution limit (which, in 2015, is $18,000, or $24,000 if you're 50 or older), you can help yourself make progress toward your retirement goals if you give your 401(k) a "raise" every time you get one.
- Review your progress at least once a year. Pick one day a year - perhaps a "milestone" day, such as your birthday or wedding anniversary - to review your overall investment picture. Are your investments performing the way you had hoped? Is your portfolio properly diversified, or are there gaps you need to address? Are you investing too aggressively or too conservatively? A yearly review of your investments and long-term financial strategy, possibly with the help of a financial advisor, can help keep you on track toward your objectives. Of course, you don't need to wait 12 months before looking over your situation; you may need to adjust your holdings during the course of any given year, in response to changes in the financial markets or your individual needs. But by committing yourself to at least one full-scale review a year, you can greatly reduce unpleasant "surprises" while staying abreast of exactly where you are and where you're headed.

On Thanksgiving, you can enjoy the holiday's traditions, along with those that may be unique to your family. And someday, you may well be thankful that you followed some productive investment "traditions."

EMV Chips Makes Cards More Secure, But Fraud Remains a Risk

Attorney General
Roy Cooper

Consumers encouraged to guard against card fraud during holiday shopping

Consumers who have gotten new credit and debit cards with EMV chip technology still need to be on the lookout for frauds and scams, Attorney General Roy Cooper said.

"New technology can make card transactions more secure, but no credit or debit card is completely safe from fraud," Cooper said. "Consumers can't let down their guard when it comes to protecting their credit and debit cards, especially with the busy holiday shopping season about to start."

How the new cards work

Banks, credit card companies, and retailers are transitioning from cards with the traditional magnetic strip to new cards and payment systems that use EMV chips. Older cards generate the same transaction information with each use, making it easier for information to be stolen from cards that are swiped through rigged payment terminals. Cards with the EMV chip—named for its owners Europay, Mastercard and Visa—protect personal information by creating a unique security code for each transaction.

EMV chip cards make it more difficult for thieves to steal consumer payment information from in-store payment terminals, but they will not protect consumers from problems with lost or stolen cards. Scammers can still use stolen card numbers to make illegal purchases online or by telephone, because EMV chip cards will continue to use the traditional process for those transactions.

Many stores are still transitioning to EMV payment terminals, and gas pumps don't have to switch to the new technology until 2017, so consumers may notice that their new chip cards still include a magnetic strip. If consumers are asked to swipe their card to make a payment rather than using a new chip card reader, they won't get the additional security benefits that EMV chips offer.

Regardless of which type of payment system is used, paying by credit card is generally safer than cash or check because you can dispute the charge if you don't get what you pay for and can stop damage quickly if theft or fraud happens, Cooper said.

Tips for consumers using EMV chip credit or debit cards

- Keep your card safe. Store your credit and debit cards in a secure location when you're not using them. Know where your card is at all times.

- Destroy unused cards. If your bank or credit card company sends you a new EMV chip credit card, shred your old one and dispose of the pieces.
- Guard your PIN. If your card gives you the option of using it with a Personal Identification Number, make sure you memorize your PIN and keep it secret. Don't use familiar numbers like phone, address, birthday or Social Security numbers as your PIN.
- Be cautious when shopping online. The process of paying online is the same regardless of whether or not your card contains an EMV chip. Continue to follow our tips for safe online shopping.
- Check your credit report regularly. Monitor your credit to spot irregular activity. Under federal law, every consumer is entitled to one free credit report per year from each of the three major credit bureaus.
- Report suspicious activity immediately. If you notice an unfamiliar charge or payment on your credit or debit card accounts, report it to the bank that issued the card right away. If you spot an unfamiliar loan or line of credit on your credit report, you could be a victim of identity theft and need to act quickly to close the affected account, file a police report, and report it to the credit bureaus.

Watch out for chip card scams

Consumers should also be prepared for scams that follow the release of new EMV chip cards, Cooper said. Last month, the Federal Trade Commission issued a warning about phony emails from scammers who pose as representatives from a major credit card issuer. The emails ask consumers to confirm their order for a new EMV chip card by clicking on bad links or replying with personal information that could be used to commit identity theft.

"While stores and banks work to adopt new EMV chip technology, look out for scammers using this as an opportunity to trick you," Cooper cautioned. "Never reply to an email or phone call that asks you to share personal information like your card or account number."

Each year, thousands of North Carolinians are affected by scams related to credit and debit cards. In 2014, the Attorney General's Office received more than 1,100 consumer complaints about credit scams and identity theft.

If you believe you have been a victim of scam, report it to the Consumer Protection Division by phone toll-free within North Carolina at 1-877-5-NO-SCAM or file a complaint online. For more information on using credit and debit cards safely, visit our website at ncdoj.gov.

Cents ($0.45) per One Hundred Dollars ($100.00) required by NCGS §7A-308(a)(1).

The property to be offered pursuant to this notice of sale is being offered for sale, transfer and conveyance "AS IS, WHERE IS." Neither the Trustee nor the holder of the note secured by the deed of trust/security agreement, or both, being foreclosed, nor the officers, directors, attorneys, employees, agents or authorized representative of either the Trustee or the holder of the note make any representation or warranty relating to the title or any physical, environmental, health or safety conditions existing in, on, at or relating to the property being offered for sale, and any and all responsibilities or liabilities arising out of or in any way relating to any such condition expressly are disclaimed. If the validity of the sale is challenged by any party, the trustee, in their sole discretion, if they believe the challenge to have merit, may request the court to declare the sale to be void and return the deposit. The purchaser will have no further remedy. Additional Notice for Residential Property with Less than 15 rental units, including Single-Family Residential Real Property

An order for possession of the property may be issued pursuant to N.C.G.S. § 45-21.29 in favor of the purchaser and against the party or parties in possession by the clerk of superior court of the county in which the property is sold.

Pamlico Native Signs with UNCW Seahawks

Jaylen Fornes, a Pamlico County native, is officially a UNCW Seahawk. He signed a national letter of intent to join the UNCW men's basketball team last Wednesday, the first day of the early signing period. He gave an oral commitment to the Seahawk's basketball coach, Kevin Keatts, earlier this fall ensuring his spot in the class of 2016.

Fornes, a six foot three inch, 180 pound, guard from Word of God Christian Academy in Raleigh but played at Pamlico County High School as a freshman before transferring and is now in his fourth year at the private school. Pamlico County Varsity Basketball Coach, Earl Sadler, Jr., coached Jaylen Fornes as a freshman. "He was a hard worker in the gym and very focused on playing basketball at the next level," said Sadler of Fornes.

The transition from a small town to a big city was very different says Fornes.

"It was tough but, it turned out to be the best thing I could have done at the time. I try to get back to Pamlico as much as possible, every two weeks if I can," said Fornes of his home town.

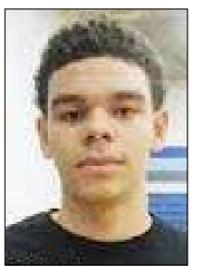

A decorated recruit, Fornes is well-known for his shooting range and after his talents went viral on social media, he was tagged the number 19 recruit in the state by Phenom Hoop Report. Fornes suffered an ankle injury and missed the second half of his junior season, but made a full recovery and played with Team Loaded on the AAU circuit this past summer. He will return as part of a guard-heavy attack for the Holy Rams this season.

Choosing a college was not a decision Fornes wanted to rush into. So, when making his decision, Fornes put a lot of weight on the personal connections he felt with the coaches he met with during the recruiting process.

He said that he had the best personal relationship with Coach Keatts of any of the head coaches who were recruiting him and that meant a lot to him.

"He made me a priority and came to see me to play throughout the summer," said Fornes of Coach Keatts. Fornes also shared Keatts' vision for he and the Seahawks team. "He wants me to come in and make an impact as soon as possible. The Seahawks are losing a senior guard and this is my opportunity to do just that," added Fornes.

Jaylen Fornes, a Pamlico County native signed a national letter of intent to join the UNCW men's basketball team last Wednesday.

Pamlico Animal Welfare Society (PAWS) "Helping the Helpless"

Spay and Neuter Assistance Program

PAWS provides low-cost spay and neuter assistance to those needing help to "fix" their pets. We issue vouchers for use at local vets, or at the Spay Today clinic in Greenville.

Our mission is to reduce the pet overpopulation problem in Pamlico County and surrounding areas by preventing hundreds of unwanted, innocent animals from being born. They are often neglected, abandoned, or killed in shelters, so altering your pets before they breed is the humane and common-sense solution.

We are here to help! Take action today!

"Saving one animal doesn't change the world, but it changes the world for that one animal."

PAWS is an all-volunteer, non-profit, 501(c)(3) organization that relies solely on donations. Find out more about us and how you can help at PamlicoPAWS.com.
