Preparing for Election Day 2020

Comment period opens, public hearings scheduled for various marine fisheries rules

MOREHEAD CITY - The N.C. Marine Fisheries Commission is accepting public comment on proposed amendments and re-adoption of 50 rules under a state-mandated periodic review schedule.

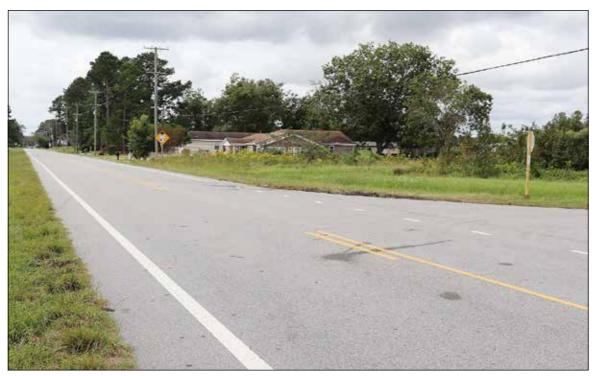

Most of the rules pertain to shellfish lease user conflicts, reclassification of Special Secondary Nursery Areas, oyster sanctuaries, classification of shellfish growing waters, and sanitation standards for commercial crustacea processing procedures.

Other rules pertaining to joint fishing waters are proposed for re-adoption with no changes.

Two public hearings will be held by web conference on Oct. 21 at 6 p.m. and on Oct. 27 at 6 p.m. The public may join the meetings online; however, those who wish to comment during the hearing must register to speak by noon on the day of the hearing.

Members of the public also may submit written comments through an online form or through the mail to N.C. Marine Fisheries Commission Recreational Water Quality Rules Comments, P.O Box 769, Morehead City, N.C. 28557. Comments must be posted online or be received by the N.C. Division of Marine Fisheries by 5 p.m. Nov. 30, 2020.

Links to the public hearing registration form and online comment form, as well as text of the proposed rules and links to join the meeting, can be found on the N.C. Marine Fisheries Commission's Proposed Rules Page.

The Still Charred shoulder of the highway at the scene of last weeks accident on N. C. Hwy 304 near it's intersection with Cowell Loop Road

Unsung Hero at the Scene of Accident

As a follow-up to a story The Pamlico News ran last week (courtesy of WCTI-12) concerning a multi-vehicle crash on N.C. Hwy 304 just outside of Bayboro, we have been alerted to information that an unsung hero at the crash scene prevented a bad situation from becoming tragic. Mr. Vincent Dixon of Mesic was headed west toward Bayboro when he came upon the accident just minutes after it happened. Mr. Dixon later contacted the newspaper and said that Mr. Robert Barrow, who lives near the scene and heard the crash, had already sprung into action. Mr. Barrow broke out the window of one of the vehicles involved which contained an injured woman and her two children. Mr. Barrow was able to remove her from the car, and yelled at Mr. Dixon and another gentleman at the scene to get the kids away from the car. Moments after everyone was safely away from the car, it began to burn and quickly erupted in flames. "If Robert (Mr. Barrow) had not done what he did, I'd hate to think what would have happened to that girl and her two kids," Mr. Dixon told us. "He acted quick and did what needed to be done and I just think folks need to know." The Pamlico News salutes Mr. Robert Barrow, and Mr. Vincent Dixon, as well as all the by-standers who saw a need and took action.

30th Annual Ghostwalk: Both Live AND Virtual New Bern Historical Society Event Adapts for Safety

During Domestic Violence Awareness Month, #1Thing Can Make All the Difference

NEW BERN, NC 28560, October, 2020 - Domestic violence impacts millions of people each year, but it can be prevented. It requires the collective voice and power of individuals, families, institutions, and systems - each whose "one thing" adds a valuable and powerful component to transforming our communities.

That is why the October, during Domestic Violence Awareness Month (DVAM), Coastal Women's Shelter is asking "What is the #1Thing you can do to end domestic violence?"

"Many people care and understand that domestic violence is a serious public health problem. They want to do something but believe their actions cannot make a difference," said Tova Hairston, Executive Director, Coastal Women's Shelter. "It feels overwhelming. But all change begins with #1Thing. If every person across Craven, Pamlico and Jones Counties committed to just #1Thing to stop domestic violence and help move social justice forward, that will be the beginning of real social transformation."

According to the Centers for Disease Control, 1 in 4 women and 1 in 9 men have experienced contact sexual violence, physical violence, and/or stalking by an intimate partner in their lifetime.1

"Right here in our community, Coastal Women's Shelter has served 702 victims of abuse and violence this year alone," added Tova Hairston. "That is why we need everyone - advocates, medical professionals, educators, survivors, researchers, policy makers, law enforcement officers, business owners, students, and more, to do #1Thing to stop domestic violence here in Craven, Pamlico and Iones Counties.

The N.C. Marine Fisheries Commission proposes re-adoption of a portion of rules in 15A NCAC 03O (shellfish lease user conflicts), 15A NCAC 03Q (joint fishing waters), 15A NCAC 03R (Special Secondary Nursery Areas and oyster sanctuaries), and 15A NCAC 18A (shellfish growing waters and shellfish sanitation and processing). Proposed rule changes will:

Address user conflicts associated with shellfish leases while supporting a productive shellfish aquaculture industry, as required by NCGA Session Law 2019-37. The proposed changes will increase setback requirements from developed shorelines for new shellfish leases; limit the allowable number of corner markers for demarcating shellfish leases to simplify the polygon shapes; set new criteria for shellfish lease stakes and signage to alleviate navigation concerns; and, initiate a new shellfish leaseholder training program that emphasizes user conflict reduction strategies.

Reclassify nine Special Secondary Nursery Areas to Secondary Nursery Areas, as recommended by the Shrimp Fishery Management Plan Amendment 1. The nine areas have not been opened to trawling since at least 2004, so there will be no effective change to the shrimp trawl

NEW BERN, NC. Yes, the New Bern Historical Society knows where all the skeletons in New Bern are buried! And they'll share some of those hidden secrets during the 30th Annual Ghostwalk, "Tales from the Underground," October 22-24. This year's Ghostwalk will bring you the same great 13 vignettes featuring some of New Bern's most intriguing historical characters telling their fascinating tales. But with the challenges and restrictions of the pandemic in place, you can expect major changes in the structure of this year's event.

A safely reimagined, all-outdoor Live Ghostwalk will take place at Cedar Grove Cemetery on Queen Street, October 22-24 from 5:30-9:30pm. Tickets will be good for one evening and you will pick an arrival time either early or later in the evening. The 13 ghost sites will be arrayed along three separate loops in Cedar Grove Cemetery, each with a separate entrance and exit. Small groups will be led through the two-hour walking tour by ghostly guides.

This year brings the exciting premier of Virtual Ghostwalk, which you'll be able to enjoy in the comfort and safety of your home. Beginning October 22, you'll be able to watch the professionally produced video including all 13 intriguing historical characters on your computer, tablet or phone.

"Ghostwalk has been one of New Bern's favorite annual traditions and our most important fundraiser for 30 years," explains Historical Society Executive Director Mickey Miller. "We very much want to continue to share New Bern's fascinating stories, but with the pandemic and restrictions in effect, we have had to dramatically change the Ghostwalk experience in order to keep the community and our volunteers safe."

The North Carolina coast is home to many iconic lighthouses, but there is one, situated on the banks of the Cape Fear River that is often forgotten. The Price's Creek Lighthouse is a 20-foot brick lighthouse constructed in 1850 and was one of several built to help guide ships up the Cape Fear River to the port of Wilmington. During the Civil War, it guided blockade runners carrying supplies to the Confederate States. Later in the war, as Union forces took control of the area, retreating confederates dismantled the light and after the war, it was never relit. What is left of the lighthouse, the only one of the Cape Fear River lights still standing, now sits on land owned by the Archer Daniels Midland Corporation and is not accessible by land. You can get a good view of it from the Southport to Fort Fisher Ferry. It is on the west bank of the river, just north of the Southport Ferry terminal.

Pamlico County Animal Control (252) 745-3203 • 202 Main Street • PO Box 776 • Bayboro, NC 28515 animalcontrol@pamlicocounty.org

Attention: Rabies has been reported!

Pamlico County Animal Control has confirmed a raccoon has tested positive for rabies. On October 1, 2020 a few raccoons were discovered in the Bayboro area acting sick. Both of which tested positive for K9 distemper, and negative for rabies. On Wednesday, October 7, 2020 a raccoon was found in Maribel on Highway 304 near Lynch's Beach Road.

Rabies is a preventable viral disease of mammals most often transmitted through the bite of a rabid animal. The vast majority of rabies cases reported to the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC) each year occur in wild animals like raccoons, skunks, bats, and foxes.

The rabies virus (https://www.cdc.gov/rabies/transmission/virus.html) infects the central nervous system, ultimately causing disease in the brain and death. The early symptoms of rabies in people are similar to that of many other illnesses, including fever, headache, and general weakness or discomfort. As the disease progresses, more specific symptoms appear and may include insomnia, anxiety, confusion, slight or partial paralysis, excitation, hallucinations, agitation, hypersalivation (increase in saliva), difficulty swallowing, and hydrophobia (fear of water). Death usually occurs within days of the onset of these symptoms.

The proposed rule changes will be presented to the N.C. Marine Fisheries Commission for final approval in February 2021 and have an earliest effective date of April 1, 2021.

This week you may feel more rooted in the past than the present, Aries. Feeling nostalgic for old times, including the people and places of your past, is healthy.

TAURUS – Apr 21/May 21 People move in and out of your social circle. It's a natural transition that everyone experiences. Embrace opportunities to meet new and interesting people.

🖲 GEMINI – May 22/Jun 21

Gemini, if you take a trip down memory lane at some point, don't be surprised if family members dominate your thoughts. Think about rekindling a lost relationship.

CANCER – Jun 22/Jul 22

Cancer, you may run into an old flame over the course of the week. In preparation, be sure to leave the house looking your best. This will help boost your confidence.

LEO – Jul 23/Aug 23

You may feel that life has gotten a tad dull, Leo. It is time to do something about that. Try a new restaurant. Engage in a new hobby. Connect with new friends.

Spirituality and religion may be on your mind, Virgo. You may want to figure out how to embrace your values and beliefs, as they can improve your life.

LIBRA Traits & Overview

Libra is the seventh sign of the zodiac, and it's at this point in the zodiac that we start to see a shift. While the first six signs of the zodiac focus on the individual, the last six focus on the individual's contact with others and with the world. The Libra zodiac sign is first and foremost focused on others and how they relate to them. We can call this the sign of Partnership with a capital 'P' because these folks do not want to be alone!

For a Libra, everything is better if it's done as a pair. Libras are good when paired up, too, since they epitomize balance, harmony, and a sense of fair play. While they are true team players at work, their favorite partnership is at home: marriage. Libras feel most complete when they are coupled up with their lover, forever.

FOR ENTERTAINMENT PURPOSES ONLY

LIBRA – Sept 23/Oct 23

Waking up feeling optimistic and energized is a great thing, Libra. On top of it you may be surprised to find that someone has a crush on you. Go out if you're single.

SCORPIO – Oct 24/Nov 22

Scorpio, if restlessness sneaks up on you, look for new opportunities to add a bit of excitement. It could be taking an online course in a subject that interests you or a vacation.

SAGITTARIUS - Nov 23/Dec 21

CAPRICORN - Dec 22/Jan 20

Capricorn, you may be feeling that someone close to you is ill or not himself or herself. These intuitions will not cease until you check out the situation for yourself.

AQUARIUS – Jan 21/Feb 18

Aquarius, a desire to learn new things may be very strong for you right now. It is never too late to return to school and finish a degree or to begin pursuit of a new one.

PISCES – Feb 19/Mar 20

Pisces, don't take love too personally this week, especially if your romantic partner has been playing it cool. Things will come around.

FINANCIAL FOCUS Can You Afford the Years Beyond Your 'Healthspan'?

We're all interested in the topic of lifespan. What's the average lifespan of men and women? What factors influence lifespan? What can I expect for my own lifespan? Yet, you may also want to think about your healthspan – that is, how long you will live in generally good health. How should you factor in your potential healthspan when creating your financial strategies?

To begin with, you'll want to be aware of the gap between lifespan and healthspan. Consider this: The average healthy life expectancy in the U.S. is only 68.5 years, according to World Bank data cited in the 2020 Edward Jones/Age Wave Four Pillars of the New Retirement study. This means that, on average, Americans can expect to spend about 10 years in poor health, which, unfortunately, is more than in most other developed countries.

Of course, everyone's situation is unique, and many variables are involved in the lifespan/healthspan comparison: differences in projected longevity between women and men, family health histories, environmental factors, and so on. And there are certainly plenty of people whose healthspans essentially match their lifespans – that is, they enjoy healthy, busy lives right up until the end. Yet, even the possibility that you could face a decade or more of less-than-ideal health in your retirement years should be cause for concern. The health issue, by itself, is already worrisome, but the accompanying threat to financial independence is also on people's minds. In fact, 72% of retirees say one of their biggest fears is becoming a burden on their families, according to the Four Pillars study.

So, given these concerns, here are a few moves to consider, possibly with the help of a financial professional:

• Investigate long-term care protection. The costs of an extended nursing home stay can be exorbitant, and the services of a home health care aide are far from inexpensive, too. And retirees know it: Their greatest financial worry is paying for health care costs, including the cost of long-term care, again according to the Four Pillars study. Consequently, you may want to explore some type of long-term care protection – and the younger you are when you purchase this protection, the more affordable it tends to be.

• Evaluate your investment mix. Even with Medicare and Medicare supplement plans, you will likely face significant outof-pocket health care costs during your retirement years. To help pay these bills, you will need sufficient liquidity in your financial accounts. So, you may need to evaluate, and possibly adjust, your investment mix to make sure you've got adequate funds in liquid, low-risk vehicles. These types of securities won't offer much in terms of growth potential, but they do provide more stability of principal. You won't want to abandon all growth-oriented vehicles, though – even in retirement, you need to stay ahead of inflation.

• Create a sustainable withdrawal rate. To help address your healthspan funding concerns, you'll also need to ensure you're not taking out too much money from your investment portfolio each year, especially during your first few years of retirement.

If you could see into the future, you'd know exactly where your lifespan intersected with your healthspan. But since this certainty is unattainable, you'll want to be prepared for whatever comes your way.

NC EXTENSION Pamlico County Hay Bale Contest

every year when autumn finally starts to creep in. One of those things is the NC State Fair. I love the food: roasted corn, funnel cakes, caramel apples with chocolate drizzle and all sorts of treats on top and old fashioned kettle corn! I love to see the beautiful garden displays, the winners in the flower show, and

Kait Neeland 4-H Agent

4-H Agent watch the livestock shows. I also love to see all the creativity that goes into the 4-H Hay Bale Decorating Contest. I'll be sad to miss the food, and the gardens, and the livestock shows, but I (and you) don't have to miss out on the Hay Bale Decorating!

We've decided to bring the hay bale decorating right home to Pamlico County! We're very excited to decorate our own, and to see your creativity so we are hosting a Hay Bale Decorating Contest. Here's how it works.

Display your creativity and imagination in a family friendly county-wide competition. This hay bale decorating contest will have three divisions: Pamlico County History and Heritage, Celebrate 4-H, and Fall Fun. Each division will have youth and adult categories. Individuals/Families may submit one entry in each division. Submissions will be compiled and released on the Pamlico County Extension website and Instagram so that everyone can vote for their favorites. Participants who submit entries in the Celebrate 4-H Division have the option of having their entries submitted in the State 4-H Hay Bale Contest. The first place winners will be awarded a ten dollar gift card, 2nd and 3rd place winners of each category in all divisions, will receive a certificate.

Bay River Metropolitan Sewerage District F.O.G. Program (Fats, Oil, and Grease)

Sewer back-ups and overflows are frequently caused by improper materials such as fats, oils and grease being placed into the sewer system by customers. Since fats, oils and grease are lighter than water, they tend to accumulate at the top and sides of sewer pipes and can build up until a blockage happens. If a blockage does occur, the sewer will back up or overflow.

DO NOT:

Pour grease, fats and oils from cooking down the drain Use toilets as a wastebasket

Use the sewer system as a means to dispose of food and scraps

DO:

Collect grease in a container to dispose of it in the garbage Place food scraps in waste containers or start a compost pile Place a wastebasket in the bathroom for disposable diapers and personal hygiene products

PAMLICO COUNTY PRIMARY SCHOOL PCPS Back To In Person School 2020

School has successfully reopened in a hybrid model for over a month as of the publishing of this article. We are happy to state that we have had very few cases of Covid-19 at PCPS. We take temperatures upon arrival and just before lunch. If a student has a fever, they are quickly escorted to our nurse who assesses their symptoms and if necessary, they are taken to our Covid isolation room which is located in our computer lab, which is not currently being used due to safety concerns. Parents are asked to pick up their child within 30 minutes after receiving a call.

All staff and students wear masks and desks are spaced six feet apart. Breakfast and lunches are served in our classrooms limiting exposure. Breakfast and lunches are taken in coolers on wheels to the classrooms. Pictured are Ms. Savage's second grade students saying the Pledge of Allegiance with their breakfast on their desks. Our smaller class sizes allow for social distancing and more individualized attention. Classes do not go out at the same time for recess, and our playground equipment is not currently being used.

Our Gym, STEM Lab, Art Room and Media Center are closed for student access. Therefore, our Encore teachers are pushing carts into classrooms providing much needed enrichment, while not allowing for virus spread by moving students within our building (please see pictures). Students are able to request and check out books from our media center. Library books that have been returned are quarantined for one week to ensure that they will not transmit the virus as pictured. P.E., weather permitting, usually takes place outside with Coach Daniels.

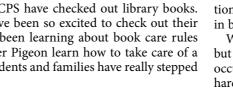

smaller, allowing for more instruction and remediation.

All in person students at PCPS have checked out library books. Our kindergarten students have been so excited to check out their first library book. They have been learning about book care rules and helping the book character Pigeon learn how to take care of a book. Our virtual teachers, students and families have really stepped up and are working hard.

Some positives have actually come out of this situation. It is nice to look on the bright side. Amazingly, there have been very few tears shed from our students, even though parents can not walk their child to their class. Students have done a great job entering our building and finding their classrooms. Class sizes are

Please see the picture of our kindergarten teacher, Mrs. Jackie teaching her virtual students math with a white board and marker while on a Zoom call. They have their own whiteboards and markers at home and were practicing counting the number three. Our Pre-K students, who are not required to wear a mask during class time, are doing a great job walking down the hall to class and during dismissal wearing their masks. They have made great progress walking down the hall in a line.

Students Kindergarten through 3rd grade will be provided an electronic device for in class learning. Our remote students will be allowed to use their devices from home. Kindergarten and first grade will receive iPads. Second and Third grade students will receive a laptop computer. Families that do not have Internet access at home will be provided a hotspot to allow much needed access. Families are asked to sign a technology care contract and pay $15 to offset the cost of repairs down the road. This 1:1 initiative will make a big difference for our students in their learning both in person and remote.

Lastly, in the afternoon, we changed car riders getting picked up in the bus parking lot instead of dismissing from the front of the school and that has been a game changer. There is more room and dismissal goes much smoother and faster than in years past. In addition, students on Tuesday and Friday receive breakfasts and lunches in bags to last them until they return to school (please see picture).

We are not sure when we will return to life as normal at PCPS, but we are thankful for the blessings and bright spots that have occurred. We appreciate all our staff, families and students working hard to make the 2020-2021 school year successful!

Pamlico County Board of Elections

The Pamlico County Board of Elections consists of a five-member board that is appointed every two years. NCGS 163A-30 cites " Not more than three members of the county board of elections shall belong to the same political party." Regular monthly meetings are held on the fourth Tuesday of each month at 10:00 am in the Elections office unless otherwise posted. All meetings are open to the public and public attendance is encouraged. Elections office is located on the first floor of the courthouse annex at 202 Main Street in Bayboro, North Carolina.

All North Carolina county boards of elections offices are county funded and state governed. The Elections office is responsible for conduct of all elections and voter registrations in Pamlico County. Voter registration forms are available at all public libraries, the elections office, or may be downloaded from the North Carolina state website at www.sboe.state.gov.

You may also register to vote at the Department of Motor Vehicles office, Employment Security Commission, and the Department of Social Services. Once you are registered, a voter id card will be sent to you with details of your assigned voting district. These cards may be used to change your name, party affiliation or address.

All qualified registration applications MUST be received by the Elections office by the 25th day before the election to be eligible to vote in that election. Please contact the Pamlico County Board of Elections office with any questions or comments at 252-745-4821 or via email at pamlico.boe@pamlicocounty.org

Vandemere

Vandemere is a Dutch/Flemish word which roughly translated means "Village by the Sea". The Town of Vandemere doesn't lie on the sea, but on the shore of the Bay River near it's conflux with the creek which bears the name, Vandemere Creek. Vandemere was formally incorporated in 1895 but its history began long before then. Vandemere was the first seat of government of the newly formed County of Pamlico. County commissioners met at a house that was rented for the sum of $5 per month for use as the courthouse. While it had been planned to build a permanent courthouse and keep the county seat in Vandemere, land prices were, as one commissioner described them at the time "exorbitant" and in 1877 the county seat was moved to Bayboro. The area around Vandemere was also thought to have been a location of a major Native American settlement of the Secontan tribe. Today Vandemere is the home to one of the finest town park/boating access sites in our area.

Preparing for Election Day 2020

Make sure you're registered to vote. The deadline to register in North Carolina is October 9. However, NC allows registration in person during early voting October 15-31. But remember, you must vote at the same time that you register during early voting. You cannot register at early voting and then vote on Election Day.

- Who can register to vote in North Carolina?
- Be a U.S. citizen. Citizenship documents are NOT required to register.
- Live in the county where you are registering, and have resided there for at least 30 days prior to the date of the election
- Be at least 18 years old or will be by the date of the general election.
- Not be serving a sentence for a felony conviction, including probation, parole, or post-release supervision. However, individuals serving an extended term of probation, parole, or post-release supervision solely because of outstanding monetary obligations (fines, fees, or restitution) will be permitted to register to vote, or register for the first time to vote, if all the following criteria apply:

1) The voter is serving a term of extended probation, parole, or post-release supervision; 2) The voter has outstanding fines, fees, or restitution as a result of their felony conviction; and 3) The voter does not know of another reason that their probation, parole, or post-release supervision was extended.

Note: An inactive voter is still a registered voter. A voter who has an inactive status will be asked to confirm their address when they appear to vote. No special document is required.

How do I register to vote?

There are two primary methods available to apply for voter registration in North Carolina:

Filling out the North Carolina Voter Registration Application and submitting by mail or in person at the Board of Elections, 202 Main St., P.O. Box 464, Bayboro, NC 28515

Using N.C. Division of Motor Vehicles (NCDMV) services: 1) Selecting the option to register to vote while applying for a vehicle license or ID; 2) Existing NCDMV customers may submit their voter registration application online through the DMV

Get what you need to bring to the polls.

No photo ID is required in NC.

NC does require you to show a NC Driver's license/ID or last 4 digits of social security if you are voting for the first time.

For early voters or "same-day registration" you must provide proof of residence with a NC driver's license, other government issued photo ID, or a document showing the voter's current name and address issued within 3 months of the date.

Consider early voting or vote by mail.

This is a good way to avoid lines on Election Day. Early voting in North Carolina is October 15-31. The deadline to request an absentee vote by mail is October 27.

Find your polling place.

Be sure you know where you are headed on Election Day.

Know what kind of voting machine you'll encounter.

Voting machines can vary a lot, but they are generally very easy to use. It does not hurt to familiarize yourself with the mechanics before the big day. Pamlico County uses paper ballots that voters scan in a Tabulator.

Get a sample ballot.

Before you head to the polls, it is a good idea to get a sample ballot so you know in advance all the races you'll be voting on. There are often lots of smaller races for local offices, judges, or propositions that could have an immediate impact on your life but don't get as much news coverage. If you have a sample ballot in advance, you can do research on all these races, even marking down how you want to vote, and then show up at the polls prepared to make your decisions.

BEFORE THE NORTH CAROLINA UTILITIES COMMISSION

PUBLIC NOTICE

In the Matter of Application of Virginia Electric and Power Company, d/b/a Dominion Energy North Carolina for Approval of Renewable Energy and Energy Efficiency Portfolio Standard Cost Rider Pursuant to N.C.G.S. § 62-133.8 and Commission Rule R8-67

PUBLIC NOTICE

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that the North Carolina Utilities Commission has scheduled a public hearing in the annual demand-side management (DSM) and energy efficiency (EE) cost recovery proceeding for Virginia Electric and Power Company, d/b/a Dominion Energy North Carolina (DENC). The public hearing is scheduled to begin immediately following the hearings in Docket Nos. E-22, Subs 590 and 588, which are scheduled to begin on Tuesday, November 17, 2020, at 10:00 a.m. The hearing will be held remotely via Webex. A link to view the hearing will be available at www.ncuc. net. Members of the public that would like to testify during the hearing must register in advance of the hearing, no later than 5:00 p.m. on Monday, November 9, 2020, by contacting the Public Staff via email at DENCPublicHearing@psncuc.nc.gov or by calling 866-380-9816. When registering, provide your name, docket number (E-22, Sub 589), telephone number, and the topic of your testimony.

Only individuals registered with the Public Staff by 5:00 p.m. on Monday, November 9, 2020, will be allowed to testify at the hearing.

This proceeding is being held pursuant to the provisions of N.C. Gen. Stat. § 62-133.9 and Commission Rule R8-69 for the purpose of determining whether an increment or decrement rider is required to allow DENC to recover all reasonable and prudent costs incurred for adoption and implementation of new DSM and new EE measures and appropriate incentives. Public witness testimony will be received in accordance with Commission Rule R1-21(g).

On August 11, 2020, DENC filed its application for approval of DSM/EE cost recovery pursuant to N.C.G.S. § 62-133.9 and Commission Rule R8-69. By its application, DENC requests revisions to its DSM/EE cost recovery rider effective for service rendered on and after February 1, 2021. DENC's request, including the North Carolina regulatory fee, would result in the following kilowatt-hour (kWh) charges: 0.1051 cents per kWh for residential customers; 0.1198 cents per kWh for small general service and public authority customers; and 0.0922 cents per kWh for large general service customers. No DSM/EE rate rider would be applicable to rate schedules 6VP, NS, outdoor lighting and traffic lighting customers. In addition, industrial and large commercial customers that have, under N.C.G.S. § 62-133.9, opted out of and never participated in DENC's DSM and EE programs are not subject to the rider.

Compared to the current DSM/EE rates, the result of DENC's request would be a decrease of 0.0199 cents per kWh for residential customers, which would decrease the monthly bill of a residential customer using 1,000 kWh of electricity by 20 cents. Small general service and public authority customers would see a DSM/EE rider decrease of 0.0562 cents per kWh, and large general service customers would see a DSM/EE rider decrease of 0.0158 cents per kWh.

Specific information may be obtained from the Office of the Chief Clerk, North Carolina Utilities Commission, Raleigh, North Carolina, where a copy of DENC's application is available on the Commission's website at www.ncuc.net.

The Public Staff is authorized by statute to represent consumers in proceedings before the Commission. Written statements to the Public Staff should include any information that the writers wish to be considered by the Public Staff in its investigation of the matter. Such statements should be addressed to Christopher J. Ayers, Executive Director, Public Staff 4326 Mail Service Center, Raleigh, North Carolina 27699-4300.

The Attorney General is also authorized by statute to represent consumers in proceedings before the Commission. Statements to the Attorney General should be addressed to The Honorable Josh Stein, Attorney General, c/o Consumer Protection- Utilities, 9001 Mail Service Center, Raleigh, North Carolina, 27699-9001. Written statements may be emailed to utilityAGO@ncdoj.gov.

Written statements are not evidence unless persons appear at a public hearing and testify concerning the information contained in their written statements.

Any person desiring to intervene in the proceeding as a formal party of record should file a petition under North Carolina Utilities Commission Rules R1-5 and R1-19 on or before Monday, October 26, 2020. Such petitions should be filed with the Chief Clerk of the North Carolina Utilities Commission, 4325 Mail Service Center, Raleigh, North Carolina 27699-4300. The direct testimony and exhibits of expert witnesses to be presented by intervenors should also be filed with the Commission on or before Monday, October 26, 2020.

ISSUED BY ORDER OF THE COMMISSION.

This the 14th day of September, 2020.

NORTH CAROLINA UTILITIES COMMISSION

Joann R. Snyder, Deputy Clerk

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that the North Carolina Utilities Commission has scheduled a public hearing in the annual Renewable Energy and Energy Efficiency Portfolio Standard (REPS), cost recovery application and compliance report filed by Virginia Electric and Power Company, d/b/a Dominion Energy North Carolina (DENC), in the above-captioned docket. The public hearing is scheduled to begin immediately following the hearing in Docket No. E-22, Sub 590, which is scheduled to begin on Tuesday, November 17, 2020, at 10:00 a.m. The hearing will be held remotely via Webex. This proceeding is being held pursuant to N.C. Gen. Stat. § 62-133.8 and Commission Rule R8-67 to consider DENC's application for approval of REPS cost recovery and compliance with the REPS requirements during the 2019 calendar year. Public witness testimony will be received in accordance with Commission Rule R1-21(g).

On August 11, 2020, DENC filed direct testimony and exhibits in support of its application for REPS cost recovery and 2019 REPS compliance report. By its application, DENC proposes to implement the following total REPS rates, including regulatory fee, effective for service rendered on and after February 1, 2021: a $0.14 charge per month for residential customers; a $0.82 charge per month for commercial customers; and a $5.35 charge per month for industrial customers.

Specific information may be obtained from the Office of the Chief Clerk, North Carolina Utilities Commission, Raleigh, North Carolina, where a copy of DENC's application is available on the Commission's website at www.ncuc.net.

INNOVATIVE IDEA FOR RECESS

Two teacher assistants at PCPS put their thinking caps together and came up with a great plan for getting our students moving during recess since they can not use the playground equipment due to Covid-19. Becky King and Teresa Harris, along with the artistic ability of our Art Teacher, Kate Bennett came up with a design for a sensory path play space which will be painted under a covered area on a patio. Some activities that students will do are: hopscotch, leapfrog, twirling, jumping and balancing to name a few.

These teacher assistants, in the past, have been drawing the sketches out with chalk which only lasts a certain amount of time. With not knowing when our playgrounds can be used again, this will allow many students a chance to have fun and exercise. An anonymous donor has donated paint to help get the project started. We can't wait to see the finished productt! Great job ladies!

It is IMPERATIVE that Conservatives regain a super majority in both the NC House and the Senate so that anyone who tries to trounce on the state constitution and decimate the state's economy for political gain can be stopped in their tracks. In November, we must elect conservatives who care deeply about the legacy we will leave our children and grandchildren. I am asking you to please support my campaign so that I may return to Raleigh to be a voice that represents your wishes for how government should be run, "BY the people, and FOR the people...".

I am honored and humbled by the support and encouragement I have received for continuing my service as their representative. I have proven to all of my constituents they can count on me. I work hard each day to exceed the expectations of many. I ran my first election on promises, and I am running for re-election on accomplishments. I have built strong relationships in the district and in Raleigh which will help me accomplish much more for Eastern North Carolina.

I am seeking my 3rd term as your Pamlico County Register of Deeds. I have 18 years of experience in the Register of Deeds office. It is my personal pleasure to serve the citizens of Pamlico County! I love this county and I'm proud to call it home. The office of Register of Deeds is one that is vitally important. I have the knowledge and the experience to keep it operating correctly and efficiently! It is the only contested local race on the ballot. Thank you for your continued support.

$3,000 donation to Cause for Paws of NC, an organization with a mission to protect, nurture, and find homes for unwanted or displaced animals.

Employees have the option to participate in "A Cause a Quarter" each quarter. The quarterly campaign requires a $25 donation from participating employees to a non-profit voted on by all employees of the association. Participants are able to wear jeans each Friday of the quarter in which they participate.

Chosen by employees for the third quarter of 2020 was Cause for Paws of NC. With employee and Association contributions, the total donation amount is $3,000.

"AgCarolina Farm Credit's employees are committed to taking an active role in distributing resources throughout eastern North Carolina," said AgCarolina CEO Dave Corum. "A Cause a Quarter is the product of an employee suggestion and has been a great way for our team to understand how we can all work together to make an impact. AgCarolina is proud to provide these funds to Cause for Paws of NC as they seek to provide care for animals in need of adoption. We are grateful for organizations like Cause for Paws of NC and wish them great success with their mission."

AgCarolina Farm Credit is a farmer owned financial cooperative with headquarters in Raleigh. They are the leading provider of credit to farmers in central and eastern North Carolina. AgCarolina Farm Credit has over $1.5 billion in loans and commitments outstanding to nearly 3,000 North Carolina farmers. Loans are made to finance land, homes, farm buildings, operating expenses, livestock and equipment, as well as other purposes. Credit life insurance, appraisal services, and leasing are also available through AgCarolina Farm Credit.

Breast Cancer Think Pink Breast Cancer Survival stories each week Breast Cancer Awareness Month

Catherine

Catherine was 31 years old when she discovered a breast lump on a self-exam which turned out to be Triple Negative Breast Cancer(TNBC) which means she tested negative for 3 things: the hormones estrogen and progesterone and a protein called HER2 and she required chemotherapy, surgery and radiation. She admits this was a low ebb in her life for her and her family. She started reading about how other people managed to live with their cancer and learned that our beliefs and attitudes can affect and influence how we cope with, manage, and recover from cancer. She decided to regain some element of control at this frightening time in her life by setting goals in a life plan and working toward achieving them. She practiced yoga and positive affirmations to nurture her mental health. She visualized watching her children grow up, being present at their weddings. She went back to college, obtained a degree and a promotion, and eight years later she had two children. She learned not to fear the future as we have absolutely no control over it, to open herself up to all possibilities, and to just let life happen... mytriplenegativelife.

Mary

There is one common thread of truth that runs through every cancer survivor's story. Cancer changes a person's life forever. I was 56 years old and teaching middle-school students in Raleigh when I was diagnosed with stage 3 breast cancer and I began my year-long recovery. After adjusting to the worrisome news, I took a few days off from school to have a mastectomy. After a short recovery period, I was back in the classroom, but there was a dark cloud looming ahead. I took sick leave every Friday for 3 months to receive chemotherapy infusions lasting 4 hours. I took my daughter or my best friend for support because I was scared. The confidence that I had gained in the classroom was gone. When I was at school, my co-workers covered my classes when I had bouts of extreme nausea and my students teased me about my awful wig. I laughed along with them so they would not worry. I received radiation therapy after school every day for an exhausting period of 6 weeks. Once the burns on my skin healed, I underwent two reconstructive surgeries. Eventually I was able to return to the classroom, but my immune system had been compromised and I caught every bug that the students brought to school. I had no more sick leave, so I had to work when I was ill. This former Teacher of the Year could not address the class without bursting into tears. Unable to face another school year, I took early retirement.

The effects of physical damage and mental anguish haunt me still today. Cancer changed me into someone I did not recognize. But the road to recovery was difficult in other ways as well. Living single on a teacher's salary presented a financial crisis in the wake of multiple surgeries and treatments. Although I had good health insurance, my portion of medical expenses depleted my life savings. To pay for expensive cancer treatments, I cashed out my 401K. I used loans and credit cards to pay my living expenses. When my financial resources were completely depleted, I could no longer make my house payments and I had to sell my home. A deep depression of hopelessness consumed me. These were trying times indeed, but with loving support of family and friends, I found the strength and courage to change my life once again and leave cancer behind me. Slowly, I gained my confidence back and I laughed again. I started over with a new career and new attitude, a more positive outlook. Yes, cancer changed me. I would never again be the person I was before cancer, but I was willing to explore the person that I could become. I now live and work in Pamlico County and enjoy the calming effects of watching ripples sparkle on the river at sunset. I am smiling again because I have been cancer free for 14 years.

Is 3D mammography right for you?

Mammograms take images of breast tissue to determine the presence of abnormalities, including lumps. Women may undergo traditional, 2D mammograms, but increasingly many healthcare facilities are now employing 3D technology because it can provide clearer pictures.

A 3D mammogram, also called digital tomosynthesis, takes several different X-rays of the breasts and combines those images to establish a three-dimensional picture. The Mayo Clinic says that a 3D mammogram is typically used to search for breast cancer in people who may have no outward signs or symptoms. It also may be used to help diagnose the cause of a breast mass or nipple discharge. Doctors may suggest 3D imaging to get a better look at any growths or help identify the source of any symptoms a person may be concerned about.

Two-dimensional mammograms are still the industry standard. The 3D versions are obtained in a similar fashion by pressing the breasts between two imaging plates. Rather than just taking images from the sides and top to bottom, the 3D version will take multiple angles to make a digital recreation of the breast. Medical News Today says this enables doctors to look at small, individual sections of the breast tissue that may be as thin as just a single millimeter.

A study published in the journal JAMA Oncology says cancer detection rates are higher in people who do 3D imaging over time. Threedimensional mammograms can be useful for women with dense breast tissue or those at higher risk for breast cancer. Although experts at MD Anderson Cancer Center advise any woman who needs a mammogram to get the 3D version. However, 3D mammography may not be covered by all insurance plans.

It's important to note that a 3D mammogram releases the same amount of radiation as a traditional mammogram. It is of no greater risk to the patient, and it is approved by the Food and Drug Administration. Also of note, because 3D mammograms produce more images, it may take a radiologist a little longer to read one than it would a 2D mammogram.

Three-dimensional mammograms are an option for women screening for breast cancer.

Health& Wellness What to expect after cancer treatment ends

Once the initial shock of a breast cancer diagnosis wears off, many patients are ready to get down to business and begin treatment. Based on data collected by the SEER database, which is maintained by the National Cancer Institute, five-year survival rates for breast cancer in the United States are excellent. If the cancer is localized or regional (spread to nearby structures or lymph nodes), the survival rate is 99 percent and 86 percent, respectively. If the cancer has spread to distant parts of the body, the five-year survival rate is 27 percent. These survival rates underscore the importance of early detection and treatment.

Treatment may induce feelings of anxiety among patients. Equally scary can be what to expect after treatment ends. Here's a closer look at what comes next.

After surgery

If treatment involves surgery for a lumpectomy or mastectomy, patients will move to into the recovery room after surgery to wake up from anesthesia. BreastCancer.org says if you are feeling any pain, now is the time to speak up, as staff in the recovery room assess your pain and vital signs.

Many surgeries are completed on an outpatient basis. However, more invasive surgeries that involve lymph node dissection require a hospital stay.

Doctors will set up a schedule of follow-up care to check surgical sites and monitor healing. Radiation or chemotherapy may be used in conjunction with surgery and may continue even after surgery.

After chemotherapy

Chemotherapy causes an "enormous assault" on the body, according to Marisa Weiss, MD, founder of Breastcancer.org. Many of the hurdles that people feel post-treatment are lasting fatigue. WebMD says a phenomenon called "chemo brain" can occur. This is a mental change characterized by an inability to focus and memory deficits.

In addition, after chemo ends, it may take up to six months for hair to start to grow back, and hair that grows back may be a different color and have a different texture.

After radiation

The American Cancer Society says side effects from radiation may vary depending on the patient. Extreme fatigue is often noted, and such feelings may come and go. Some people experience skin changes in the radiation treatment area. The skin may appear red, irritated, swollen, or blistered. Over time, the skin may become dry, itchy or flaky. Depending on certain types of radiation treatment, radioprotective drugs may be offered to help protect certain normal tissues.

Follow-up

Doctors will prescribe a regimen for follow-up care. Every few months women may expect a visit at first. The longer you have been cancer-free, the fewer follow-up visits will be required. Mammograms on any remaining breast tissue will be scheduled between six and 12 months after surgery, and annually thereafter.

Bone density tests and blood and imaging tests also may be recommended if you are taking certain medications or have physical indicators that the cancer might have come back.

Getting back on track after breast cancer treatment can take time. Eventually, life can return to normal, especially for patients with a good support team in place.

Accepting Applications For North Carolina Cares For Arts Grants

Pamlico County Arts Council is now accepting applications for North Carolina CARES for Arts grants through October 22, 2020.

The North Carolina General Assembly designated $9.4 million federal CARES Act funds for arts councils and arts organizations to mitigate business disruptions caused by COVID-19. The North Carolina Arts Council will distribute these funds on a per-capita basis to all North Carolina counties with a population of less than one million people. In many counties, local arts councils will receive the funds and then sub-grant a portion of the county allotment to eligible recipients.

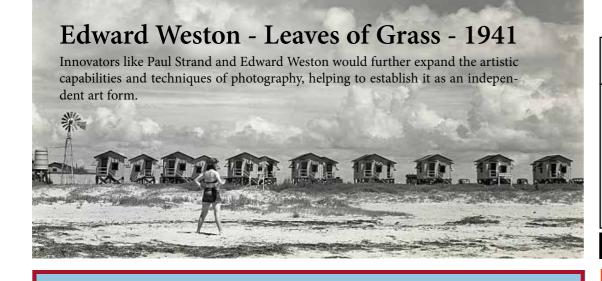

All arts and cultural organizations, and/or individual artists) are eligible to apply to for a North Carolina CARES for Arts grant to offset business disruption and/ or expenses incurred due to COVID-19 between March 1, 2020, and December 30, 2020. The following expenses can be considered: paid salaries and benefits (including contractors), on-going operating expenses, costs associated with canceling programs and creating virtual programs, and COVID-related safety and cleaning measures. Applicants must provide documentation as evidence for expenses. Documents such as receipts, bill/invoices, monthly financial statements, and payroll ledgers will be considered.

Revenue losses are not considered for mitigation in this grant program. North Carolina CARES for Arts funding cannot reimburse expenses already paid for by other federal relief funds such as PPP loans, direct grants from the NEA, and stimulus grants issued by the North Carolina Arts Council.

Applications must be received no later than October 22, 2020.

For applications, guidelines, questions or more information, contact Marguerite Chadwick-Juner, VP, PCAC at 252-249-2996 or email mjuner33@gmail.com.

PCMS Teacher of the Year and Pamlico County Beginning Teacher of the Year

It has been said that education can change the scope of a family, so imagine what a family dedicated to education can do. Marsha and Jeremy Norman have done just that. Both of these amazing people have dedicated their lives to education and now have been recognized for excellence in their chosen profession.

Earlier this year Mr. Jeremy Norman, seventh grade English and Social Studies teacher was selected by his coworkers at Pamlico County Middle School, as being deserving of the Teacher of the Year award. His coworkers say that he is a teacher that truly cares about his students and will go out of his way to ensure they have what they need to be successful in his class. Mr. Norman says that he became a teacher because "I wanted to do something meaningful and impactful. At the end of the day I wanted to feel like I made a difference in people's lives."

Class RULE

He has definitely done that as his previous students also have a lot to say about him. Diana Villa Segura, a current ninth grader says, "he has taught me to always be myself and gave me inspiration to try harder." LeeAnn Dunn, a current tenth grader, says, "Mr. Norman was one of the most caring teachers I have ever met. I wish I could be in his class again."

The love of his career inspired his wife to pursue the profession as well. Now, in her second year of teaching sixth grade at Pamlico County Middle School, Mrs. Marsha Norman has received the 2020 North Carolina Center for the Advancement of Teaching Beginning Teacher Award. Her principal Dr. Jeremy Johnson said in his nomination, "The most important thing that she did was to build relationships and rapport with students and parents alike. I heard from several parents who praised Mrs. Norman for going above and beyond to help children. We are so pleased to have Mrs. Norman back with us again this year and look forward to working with her in the years to come at Pamlico County Middle School."

We are incredibly fortunate to have such a caring and dedicated family working together at Pamlico County Middle School. It is our pleasure to celebrate them as PCMS Teacher of the Year and Pamlico County Beginning Teacher of the Year. We wish Mrs. Norman luck as she moves forward through the regional selection process.

Wife Swap

Sarah was reading a newspaper, while her hus band was engrossed in a magazine. Suddenly, she burst out laughing. "Listen to this," she said. "There's a classified ad here where a guy is offering to swap his wife for a season ticket to the stadium." "Hmmm," her husband said, not looking up from his magazine. Teasing him, Sarah said, "Would you swap me for a season ticket?" "Absolutely not," he said. "How sweet," Sarah said. "Tell me why not." "Season's more than half over," he said.

Vickie Lewis and family also took a trip to the North Carolina and Virginia mountains. Duane & Lynn Hacker Lewis and Kevin Lewis & daughter Lauren enjoyed a very nice vacation together.

Bananas

After many hurricanes and high tides throughout the years, the fertile soil here on the island is black as coal and has proven once again — this is a good place to grow all kinds of flowers, vegetables, and yes — bananas! Many years ago, knowing Roland Leary was afflicted with green thumbs, a neighbor and friend, small banana trees to plant Each

Nona Potter gave him several small banana trees to plant. Each year thereafter, Roland fertilized and coddled them all summer and then cut them back in the fall. He covered them with straw or hay to protect them from the cold temperatures. However, last year, after a relatively mild winter he didn't cut them back as he usually does, and this summer noticed something weird hanging in one of the trees. After close inspection, he discovered it was bananas! What a surprise! They continue to grow and because cool weather will begin soon, he plans to bring them inside to see if they'll ripen. Banana Pudding anyone?

Pamlico Betty Jo Rodgers, Correspondent

It appears that the ripe soy beans were harvested before the rain this weekend. There are still some soybeans that are not ready for harvest on Trent Road. I think that is because they were planted late due to rains back when it was planting time.

Yards are being decorated for the fall season. There is an especially nice display in front of Bayboro Baptist Church. Some of the yards on Trent Road have also been spruced up. If we gave a local "garden club type" award for nicest yard, I think it would still have to go to Greg and Vicky Mosely Jones. They always keeps their yard looking so nice, and they always have pretty flowers at the entrance to their driveway throughout the various seasons of the year.

The Pamlico Youth Group participated in a beach clean-up at Fort Macon State Park Saturday. They played games, ate BoJangles meals, and worshiped with music provided by the conference youth band from Richlands and a special message on friendship from the Sound District Superintendent the Reverend Jon Strother.

The Pamlico Youth Group met at Stonewall UMC on Sunday, October 11. They played games, ate a delicious meal organized by Mrs. Barbara Carey and prepared by her and several ladies from Stonewall UMC. The Pamlico Youth Group is open to students in grades 6-12 regardless of church affiliation. It is not too late to join us for fun and fellowship. The group will meet next at Stonewall UMC on October 25th at 6pm.

October is Pastor Appreciation month and this past Sunday, October 11 was Pastor Appreciation Day. Several pastors in Pamlico County were treated out to lunch on Sunday by members of their congregations. Do something nice for your pastor this month. Remember, they need your prayers most of all.

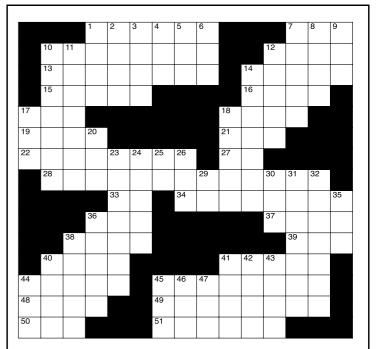

The polls open for early voting on October 15, 2020 at the courthouse in Bayboro. Plan to vote early and avoid the November rush on Election Day. Be sure to wear your mask and socially distance.

The last day to sign up for the 2020 Census has been extended to the end of October. Contact http://2020census.gov or call 844-330-2020 for more details.

Great week for weather here but not so good for the Gulf coast that seems to get hammered every few weeks. Fall is close because the pecans are beginning to fall and also the leaves. This is the first time we have gotten pecans in about three years. Can't wait for a pecan pie with nuts from my own tree! As I watch the news each day I learn there are a lot of "nuts" out there that do not grow on trees. When I recycle and see the junk people throw in the bins, I get irritated and wonder what has happened to folks that can't follow the rules, because it causes problems for those of us who try to do the right thing. There was no church today because some were sick. Our wild turkeys are getting fatter and they are so pretty crossing the road. Happy birthday to Marena Potter who woke up on her special day and found her doorsteps completely full of lovely flowers. Later she was taken to Ruby Tuesdays for a delicious luncheon. Her daughter Wendy, a friend Elizabeth, and Florence Bray accompanied her to lunch. Florence made her a delicious sour cream cake and Marena brought a slice to me. Minda Harris called this week and told me her stepdaughter passed away a short time ago. My son Russ and wife Jeanna are getting close to being settled into their home here. Russ painted the little shed behind the house barn red, and of course as you always do, ran out of paint before finishing. I was sitting in the sun room looking out over Brown Creek and a beautiful boat came by with two huge flags on the back. One was a large American flag and the other was a large Trump flag. It went up the creek then back down so I got to enjoy it twice. Seems the fish are beginning to bite in the creek. Guess I'll have to get my fishing pole since we can't get out to much because of the horrible virus.

Thought for the week--Remember the song "What the world needs now, is love, sweet love, that's the only thing that there's just too little of." Let's change that to there is "to much love."

Fire Prevention Week: Red Cross Urges Families to Test Smoke Alarms and Practice Escape Plan Red Cross survey: Most of us are underprepared as home fires continue during COVID-19

RALEIGH NC, OCTOBER, 2020 - National Fire Prevention Week is October 4-10, and the American Red Cross urges everyone to test their smoke alarms and practice their escape plan as home fires continue during COVID-19.

Since February, the Red Cross has responded to more than 29,000 home fires across the country to help more than 128,000 people with urgent needs like emergency lodging, financial assistance and recovery planning. In Eastern North Carolina, local volunteers have responded to 697 home fires and help 2,487 people. The nation's most frequent disaster, home fires are most often caused by cooking, according to the National Fire Protection Association, which is sponsoring Fire Prevention Week with the theme, "Serve Up Fire Safety in the Kitchen!"

"Home fires haven't stopped during COVID-19, and neither has the need to prevent fire tragedies," said Sam Rodgers, disaster program officer, Red Cross Eastern North Carolina. "During Fire Prevention Week, test your smoke alarms and practice your escape plan to help protect you and your loved ones."

RED CROSS SURVEY: MOST OF US ARE UNDERPREPARED

Home fires claim seven lives a day in the U.S., but a new 2020 national Red Cross survey shows most of us aren't taking the steps to protect ourselves.

Testing your smoke alarms each month helps ensure that they're working — which can cut the risk of dying in a home fire by half. Still, 65% of us don't.

Practicing your escape plan twice a year also increases the odds of survival. But 70% of us don't.

Escaping in less than two minutes can be the difference between survival and tragedy, according to fire experts. Yet more than half of us think we have more time.

Learn more in this infographic.

HOW TO PROTECT YOUR FAMILY

During Fire Prevention Week, test your smoke alarms and practice your escape plan until everyone in your household can get out in less than two minutes. Visit redcross.org/fire for more information or download the free Red Cross Emergency app (search "American Red Cross" in app stores).

Test your smoke alarms monthly.

Place smoke alarms on each level of your home, including inside and outside bedrooms and sleeping areas.

Change the batteries at least once a year, if your model requires it. Check the manufacturer's date of your smoke alarms. If they're 10 years or older, they need to be replaced because the sensor becomes less sensitive over time. Follow the manufacturer's instructions.

Practice your escape plan until everyone can get out in less than two minutes.

Include at least two ways to exit every room in your home.

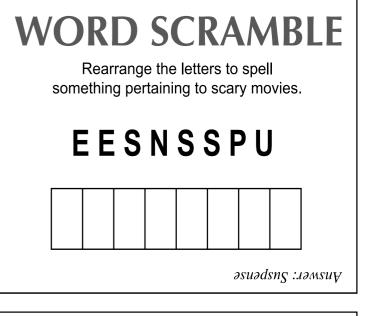

Select a meeting spot at a safe distance away from your home, such as your neighbor's home or landmark like a specific tree in your front yard, where everyone knows to meet.

Teach children what a smoke alarm sounds like. Talk about fire safety and what to do in an emergency.

The Red Cross Home Fire Campaign is made possible with generous financial donations from national partners: Lowe's and North Carolina's statewide presenting Sound the Alarm sponsor Blue Cross and Blue Shield of North Carolina.

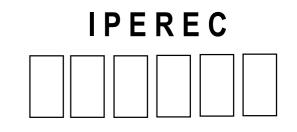

About the American Red Cross Home Fire Safety Survey:

These findings are from a CARAVAN^{\circ} Survey conducted by ENGINE INSIGHTS on January 10-12, 2020 on behalf of the American Red Cross. For the survey, a demographically representative sample of 1,004 adults ages 18 and over from the continental U.S., Alaska and Hawaii was interviewed online in English. The precision of a CARAVAN survey can be measured using a margin of error calculation. In this case, the poll has a margin of error of ±3.1 percentage points for all respondents surveyed.

CarolinaEast Medical Center To Host Sixth Annual Community National Day of Remembrance

Ceremony Is Open To The Public And Will Be Offered Virtually And Drive-In

NEW BERN, NC - On October 15, 2020 at 6:30 p.m. in the front parking lot of CarolinaEast Medical Center in New Bern, the CarolinaEast Medical Center Perinatal Loss and Bereavement Committee will host the Sixth Annual Community National Day of Remembrance, an event to memorialize and remember infants lost. The public is invited to attend to comfort grieving families and friends and light a faux candle in remembrance and support.

October is designated nationally as Pregnancy and Infant Loss Awareness Month to promote awareness and provide information regarding resources within our community to aid and support families that have experienced the loss of a child. October 15th has been set aside as the National Day of Remembrance at which time families come together to promote healing and comfort during a time of pain and heartache and to look towards the future with hope.

Shawna Knight, RN, BSN, Clinical Manager of the Women's and Children's Pavilion at CarolinaEast Medical Center and Coordinator of the Perinatal Loss and Bereavement Program said, "This special event is near and dear to my heart and each year has been as memorable as the last. While this year's will look a bit different in light of the pandemic, we couldn't go without bringing our families together for support and remembrance of their little ones. Too many parents grieve in silence when suffering the loss of a pregnancy or infant."

For those unable or uncomfortable attending in person, the ceremony will be live streamed on CarolinaEast's Facebook page at www.facebook.com/CarolinaEastHealth, Registration is required to ensure families receive the ceremony kit with special items. Please park in the designated lot in front of the main hospital. To register or for more information, contact the CarolinaEast Perinatal Loss and Bereavement Committee at 252-633-8838.

Jackie Davis and Norma SanClemente are two women who live in different towns and yet they have become friends and partners in an interesting venture, to transform discarded bridal gowns into angel gowns, bereavement garments for stillbirths and deceased infants.

The name Heavenly Butterflies signifies a transformation from an old life to a new life just as a caterpillar transforms into a butterfly. Butterflies remind us that even though we are apart from our loved ones, their spirit is always with us, forever in our hearts.

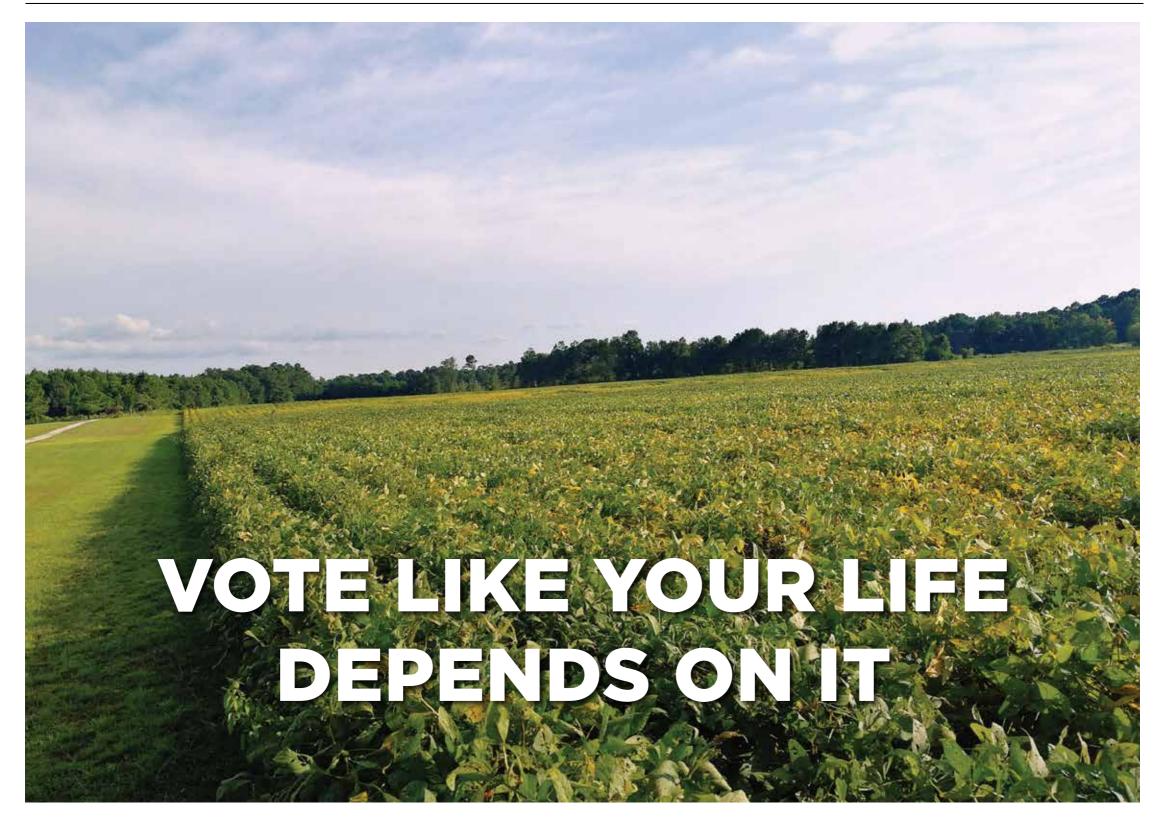

About four years ago, Jackie encountered a group of women who made bereavement gowns for stillbirths and infants who die shortly after birth. The gowns were made from bridal gowns and then given to hospitals. Jackie decided to try it with her own bridal gown, and she has continued making them ever since. She makes about 125 gowns in one year. Jackie met Norma through family members about two years ago. Norma had just lost her husband and she was searching for something worthwhile to fill her days. Norma admired Jackie's work and decided to join her in creating angel gowns to help honor those tiny souls who have departed and to bring a sense of calmness and beauty to grieving parents.

All angel gowns are different in design, but they all are made from materials taken from bridal gowns. Sometimes Jackie and Norma go shopping for price deals on ribbon, beads, lace, and other materials but they do not mind the expenditure. It is a labor of love. On occasion, they will use material from bridesmaids' gowns as an underlay for a lacy gown or as little boy's vest. When the creative juices flow, these ladies forge ahead until they expend all energy. They may take long breaks but eventually the mood strikes again, and they are off to the sewing machine.

Where does Heavenly Butterflies get the bridal gowns? Most gowns come from individuals donating to a great cause, but sometimes Jackie or Norma will happen onto an opportunity they cannot pass up, like finding a gown in a thrift store or a flea market. Deals are made and discounts are given once the owner learns how they will be used. Flaws in the fabric are cut out and then the gown is deconstructed. Several angel gowns can be made from one bride's castaway. Sizes of the angel gowns range from tiny to 8 pounds. Very often, it is the hospital healthcare worker who chooses the gown for the infant, but the parents are always grateful for the kind consideration.

Jackie and Norma have provided gowns to local hospitals and facilities as far away as Greensboro. If you would like to donate to their cause or arrange to have a bridal gown picked up, here is their contact information: Jackie Davis, 202 Bluff Court, New Bern, NC 28562, (252)876-3035 and Norma SanClemente, 9610 River Road, Grifton, NC 28530, (252)525-0647. You can also drop off a discarded bridal gown at The Pamlico News office in Oriental where it will be picked up by Jackie or Norma and transformed into beautiful garments for angels.
