New Traffic Pattern Coming to Pamlico Primary School

Traffic at school pickup time can be a real pain. Vehicles waiting in line can often spill over into a main roadway and cause safety hazards. It can be almost as bad as the New Bern Chick-fil-a at lunchtime. This type of situation has become a problem at Pamlico Primary School, particularly at the afternoon pickup, with cars overflowing and backing up onto Neals Creek Road and becoming a safety hazard. During her report to the School Board on Monday evening, Superintendent Lisa Jackson happily stated that thanks to a traffic operations study conducted by the North Carolina Department of Transportation at no cost to the school, a plan is now in place to alleviate the problem. The plan involves lengthening the approach lanes, or "queues" to the school as well as widening and improving the entranceways. While this won't reduce the number of vehicles waiting for pickup at the school, it should keep them from backing up onto the state road in front of the school. All the work is planned for the summer break so as not to cause an even bigger traffic mess.

Senior Services

The Pamlico Senior Services staff and participants would like to thank Mr. Steven Eric for raising our seniors over $4000 for Home Delivered and Congregate meals. Champion Gym held a lift challenge on December 31, 2022, to raise funds for several different non-profit organizations. The donations raised from the challenge will help service 571 meals to our Pamlico seniors.

On February 14, 2023, Mr. Steven Eric and his lovely wife attended a luncheon with the seniors, and he was presented a plaque of appreciation. Thanks again Mr. Steven Eric for remembering our seniors in Pamlico County.

Daylight Saving time!

Don't forget to "spring forward" this weekend for the start of daylight saving time! On Sunday, March 12 at 2 a.m., most Americans will set their clocks ahead one hour.

Book/Tech Mobile Visits Oriental

by: Hiram Lupton

The Craven-Pamlico Regional Library Book/Tech Mobile has a pair of new stops and they are both in Oriental. Last Friday the mobile visited the Piggly Wiggly in the morning and set up at Lou Mac Park in the afternoon. Oriental will be on their regular scheduled stops the first Friday of each month as part of the Library Outreach program which aims to bring library services out to the community. While there are of course books available to check out, there is a whole lot more. You can apply for a library card, learn how to access free educational classes and check out hotspots and laptops with your library card. You can also spin the big wheel for free prizes. All this without traveling out of your community. Next month, due to the Good Friday Holiday being on the first Friday, the mobile will visit on Saturday (April 8th) and will be at the Pig from 10 AM until noon and then be at Town Hall from 2 PM until 4 PM. For more information or questions you can go online to the library website at MyCPRL.org or give the Pamlico Library a call at 252-745-8372.

Hurricanes Hitting the Track Pamlico Opens Track & Field Season

by: Hiram Lupton

I find running, jumping, and throwing exhausting, but for the Pamlico County High School athletes, it's just another day. Just as with baseball and softball, Spring brings high school track and field season and last Thursday evening, Pamlico kicked off that season by hosting the Havelock Rams. The 3A Rams have some pretty good athletes themselves and in team competition they out pointed the boys team, 74-54, and the girls, 86-38. On the girls side, Pamlico had 3 first place finishers; Timia Smith in the 100-meter hurdles, Hakeema Barber in the shot put, and Mya Smith in the triple jump. For the boys, Zymire Harper placed 1st in the 100, 200, and the 400-meter runs, Antoine King in the discus, and Neil Landow in the 3200-meter run. In addition to the numerous 2nd and 3rd place finishers for the Hurricanes, Malachi Sheffield also posted personal best throws in the wheelchair discus and shot put. On Thursday (3/9), Pamlico travels up to Southside for a conference meet with the host squad as well as Jones Senior.

The Oriental History Museum's Historic Homes Exhibit

by: Hiram Lupton

If you haven't had a chance yet, you need to go by the Oriental History Museum and check out the current special exhibit they have on display that features the historic homes of Oriental. There are about 50 homes identified as being over 100 years old in the village and whether you are a history buff or a connoisseur of older architecture, you will enjoy looking at the photographs and reading the stories behind each one. The museum is open from 11 AM until 3 PM on Fridays and 1 PM until 4 PM on Saturdays. The historic homes exhibit will be on display until the end of May.

COMMUNITY

OBITUARIES

Willard "Bill" Frank Machle, III, 63, of Aurora, departed this life March 1, 2023 suddenly, in his sleep, and in an instant left his loved ones with a profound void. He is survived by the love of his life, Teresa Machle; his beloved brother, Christopher Machle (Maria); his adored niece, Emma Machle; his very special stepsons, Jordan Wiley (Emily) and Jacob Wiley; his granddaughter and adventure buddy, Kamryn Jade Wiley; and his best friend, Becky Heath. Sadly, he was preceded in death by his parents, Willard Frank Machle, Jr. and Mildred Ardele Grytness Machle. In retrospect, it now seems that Bill spent the past couple of years showing us how to live more fully, and how to love someone completely. During that time, except for very brief periods, he and Teresa were together every hour of every day. They had the very best time of their lives putting highway miles on their truck as they looked for the perfect adventure boat, which they found in their dear Mouse-a-Roni. They brought her home up the Intracoastal Waterway after taking her exploring from western Florida down to Key West and many points in between. After all that close-quarters time together, it would have made perfect sense for husband and wife to need some time apart, but not Bill and Teresa--they had had too much fun discovering how well each had made the other's part in the journey easier. There were things that we always knew we could count on Bill for. We counted on him to come through the door with unnecessary force and to sweep us up in crushing bear hugs. We counted on him to unabashedly and spontaneously express what he thought about us. We counted on him to keep close and honor the memory of mother and father. We counted on him to remind us, vociferously, that family was a beautiful thing, to always makes us laugh and know he loved us dearly. Bill served his country honorably in the US Army. Afterward, he attended Washington College and Towson State University. He worked for some years in construction and in other fields before finding that his professional interests ultimately lay in the field of emergency medical services. Bill became an EMT and volunteered with Pamlico Rescue Squad. He then served on the Aurora EMS from 2013 to 2021. He also served with the Triangle Volunteer Fire Department, enjoying some of his most challenging but rewarding times, bathed in the camaraderie of the emergency services family that was so dear to him. We're sure it was well with his soul, and that his adventurous spirit lives on. The family will receive friends from 3 to 5 p.m. on Sunday, March 5, 2023 at Cotten Funeral Home. In lieu of flowers, donations can be made to Aurora EMS, Aurora Fire Department, Triangle VFD 17, or to Pamlico Rescue in his memory.

Arrangements are in the care of Cotten Funeral Home & Crematory.

PISCES – Feb 19/Mar 20
You may be building the blocks of a major life project, Pisces. Use all of the resources at your disposal in the days to come.

PISCES Traits & Overview

Smart, creative, and deeply intuitive, Pisces can be close to psychic. Pisces feel things deeply, and have incredibly strong gut reactions. A Pisces "knows" things from deep within, and can often judge whether a person or situation is good or bad. That doesn't mean a Pisces ignores the logical part of their brain, though. Deeply intelligent, Pisces have a profound respect for the power of the human mind. Is it a surprise that Albert Einstein was a Pisces?

Pisces signs are sensitive, and get along well in small groups of people. Sometimes, a Pisces may feel like they have an internal and external self, and they may need to spend a lot of time solo to recalibrate those two halves of themselves. A Pisces is rarely lonely when they are by themselves, and have an active imagination. Creative, Pisces love spending time reading, exploring or creating art or music, and understanding their emotions through art.

Those with the Pisces sign may seem quiet but they are incredibly strong and have a very strong sense of right and wrong. Their moral compass, along with their gut, guides them well. When a Pisces speaks up, people listen. Pisces tend to take in everything around them, and they are great people to ask for advice on pretty much anything. While Pisces has strong convictions about the best way for them to live, they have a "live and let live" approach when it comes to others, and are accepting and nonjudgmental of all.

Pamlico Community College

Registration open for versatile slate of short-term health care courses at Pamlico Community College

Pamlico Community College's Continuing Education division has health care program options for those who can't stand the sight of blood and for those who don't mind it at all.

The college soon will be offering a new section of its popular Phlebotomy Technician course for those who don't mind the sight of blood in clinical settings and a new online course in Electronic Health Records for men and women who prefer to work in health care behind the scenes.

"Our college is working hard to launch numerous short-term, hands-on training courses that can lead to good-paying jobs in health care and other important fields," said PCC President Dr. Jim Ross. "We have been aggressive in adding 20 new short-term programs, and our goal is to add many more in the foreseeable future."

The Phlebotomy Technician course is scheduled to begin March 20. Classes will meet from 5:30 to 9:30 p.m. on Mondays and Wednesdays.

The new Electronic Health Records course is an online program. It will begin April 17.

Pamlico Community College's Phlebotomy Technician course trains individuals to collect blood for important medical tests. The next section of this popular course is scheduled to begin March 20. Contributed photo

The cost for both programs is $180, not including books.

Health care occupations are among the country's fastest growing job areas. According to the Bureau of Labor Statistics, employment in health care is expanding much faster than most job sectors with the addition of 1.9 million jobs annually.

"We are able to offer health care training courses for jobs in direct and indirect patient care," said Lori Giles, the college's chair of Continuing Education and technical programs. "Phlebotomy Technician and Electronic Health Records are two programs that illustrate perfectly our college's commitment to versatile training options."

PCC's Phlebotomy Technician course can train men and women to draw and collect a patient's blood for important medical tests, while the online Electronic Health Records course can train individuals to maintain manual and electronic health records and to use them for data collection and analysis, data sources/sets, archival systems and more.

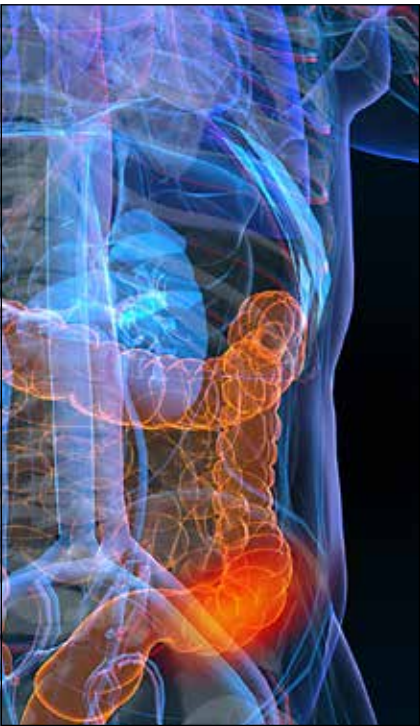

For more information about registering for either course, please contact the college at 252-249-1851, ext. 3015, or lgiles@pamlicocc.edu.

Colorectal Cancer Awareness

Colorectal cancer screening saves lives.

Robert's Story

Regular screening, beginning at age 45, is the key to preventing colorectal cancer (cancer of the colon or rectum). If you're 45 to 75 years old, get screened for colorectal cancer regularly. If you're younger than 45 and think you may be at high risk of getting colorectal cancer, or if you're older than 75, talk to your doctor about screening. Colorectal polyps and colorectal cancer don't always cause symptoms, especially at first. That is why getting screened regularly for colorectal cancer is so important.

"I never would have found it early if I hadn't been screened," said Robert, (see Robert's full story at https://www.cdc.gov/cancer/colorectal/basic_info/robert_s.htm) a survivor of colorectal cancer. Since Robert's dad got colorectal cancer at age 45, when Robert went for his annual checkup, he asked his own doctor about getting screened. He got a screening test called a colonoscopy, a test that can show the whole colon and the best kind of test for Robert because of his family cancer history. The colonoscopy showed he had cancer.

"People tell me that they are scared to get screened, but I think it's scarier if you have a tumor that the doctor can't remove," Robert said. "If I hadn't been screened, I wouldn't have been able to see my son go off to college, or enjoy this next chapter of my life with my wife and family."

<https://www.cdc.gov/cancer/dcpc/resources/features/colorectalawareness/index.htm#print>

Screening Test Options

Several screening tests can be used to find polyps or colorectal cancer, including some that you can do at home. Each test has advantages and disadvantages. Talk to your doctor about the pros and cons of each test, and how often to be tested.

Did you know?

Though cancer is a formidable foe, data from the World Health Organization suggests that millions of cancer fatalities can be prevented each year. According to the WHO, cancer accounted for nearly 10 million deaths in 2020. Roughly one-third of those deaths are due to tobacco use, high body mass index, alcohol consumption, low fruit and vegetable intake, and sedentary lifestyles. Cancers linked to such behaviors can be prevented when individuals make healthier lifestyle choices. In fact, the WHO estimates that between 30 and 50 percent of cancers can currently be prevented by avoiding risk factors, including tobacco use and poor diet, and implementing evidence-based prevention strategies, such as measures designed to minimize occupational exposure to ionizing radiation and reducing exposure to outdoor and indoor air pollution.

Hurricane Baseball Off to Busy Start

by: Hiram Lupton

The Pamlico County High School Hurricanes baseball team hit the diamond running last week with a busy schedule that included 3 non-conference games on the schedule as well as dodging some raindrops.

Pamlico opened their regular season with a Tuesday road trip to take on the 2A Ayden-Grifton Chargers. Ayden plated 10 runs on the ‘Canes who didn’t help their cause with 6 opening night errors. The Pamlico offense only managed a pair of hits, 1 each by Landon Smith and Lucas Browne in the 10-0 road loss.

The following night was supposed to be an off day for the Hurricanes, but with rain in the forecast for Friday, Pamlico moved their home opener with 1A Riverside to Wednesday. If you get bucked off a horse, they say it is good to get right back on, and Pamlico showed that was a good idea after Tuesday’s 10-0 loss. The Hurricanes got steady pitching from starter Landon Smith who only allowed 3 hits and struck out 7 over his 5 innings of work. The Pamlico offense was hot, rapping out 11 hits and scoring in every inning but the 6th. They were led by Senior leadoff man Jason

Jason Caccavaro

Caccavaro’s 3 hits. A pair of Freshmen, Kamden Keys and Ayden Broughton each had a pair of hits. Broughton came in to pitch the final 2 innings in relief for the Hurricanes as Pamlico took their home opener, 8-2.

Pamlico was right back at it Thursday hosting 2A Farmville Central. As often seems to be the case in the spring, the threat of rain was in the forecast and the start time was moved up an hour to try and beat it. This meant that the Hurricane offense got started an hour earlier, as Pamlico pushed 2 runs across the plate for an early 2-0 lead after the 1st inning. After that, it was pretty much even, with each team matching the other for the rest of the game. The final, Pamlico with a tight 7-6 win. Starting pitcher Zac Whitley picked up the win for the ‘Canes with Ragan Shields providing some solid late inning relief. The Pamlico offense was led by Jason Caccavaro, Kamden Keys, and Shields who each had 2 hits apiece.

Pamlico opens the season 2-1 and has another busy week this week with a home rematch with Ayden-Grifton on Tuesday, a visit to Washington on Thursday, and a Friday home contest with White Oak. Keep up the good work Pamlico.

Lewis Named Head Basketball Coach

by: Hiram Lupton

It had been 25 years since Pamlico County High School hired a new boys basketball coach, but as retiring Head Coach Earl Sadler said in his final post-game interview, “It’s time for the next generation to take over.” It was announced last Tuesday that the next generation to serve as Head Coach would be Nick Lewis. The 35-year-old Lewis is a homegrown Hurricane, who played for Sadler and graduated from Pamlico in 2006. He is a history teacher at the high school and has been an assistant coach on Sadler’s staff for 9 years, and for the past 3 has been head coach of the Junior Varsity squad. Lewis hopes to carry on the legacy of Coach Sadler, which not only included a lot of wins, but placed a priority on building quality young men of great character both on and off the court. He has some big shoes to fill, but he also looks to place his own footprint on the program. “We want to carry the legacy on, but it is a new chapter of sorts. It will be new and fresh and we want to carry on with things that have been vital to this program, but we will institute some new things as well. I’m excited.”

Pamlico Softball Starts Season with a Win

by: Hiram Lupton

There was a threat of rain, and the pollen hung thick in the air and in the puddles on Thursday evening. Two things that indicate spring has almost arrived in Pamlico County. A third, the return of high school softball as the Hurricanes welcomed the West Craven Eagles to Bayboro for their home opener. Pamlico looks to be a very talented team this year after losing only one starter to graduation from last year’s squad that made it to the 3rd round of the state playoffs. Although a team of veteran players, they only have one senior on the roster this year. That, coupled with a fresh influx of talent from a freshmen class that won their middle school conference championship last year make expectations high.

The Hurricanes started quickly, when Kaitlyn Toler worked her way around the bases to score for Pamlico in the home half of the 1st inning. After that, the game settled into a pitcher’s duel between West Craven’s Ronnetta Gurley and Pamlico’s Layla Prescott. The biggest difference? Pamlico played some excellent, error free defense behind Prescott. Neither team crossed the plate until the 5th when leadoff hitter Peyton Robinson got on base and was driven home by Layla Ireland to make it 2-0. The ‘Canes added another run the next inning when Layla Prescott used aggressive base running and West Craven misplays to turn a bloop single down the right field line into a run. The Eagles came up short in their final turn at bat and Pamlico came away with a 3-0 win. Prescott struck out 8 and only allowed 3 hits in going the distance to pick up the win. The Pamlico offense was led by Prescott and Freshman Kylee Freeman who each had a pair of hits. The Hurricanes start the season 1-0 and pick up the pace next week as they hit the road for 3 straight scheduled non-conference games; Tuesday at Croatan, Wednesday at West Carteret, and Thursday at West Craven.

OUR SCHOOLS

the season of New Beginnings!

Let's start with a message from our new Head of School, Mr. Earl Sadler

March winds are beginning to blow, reminding us that spring is on the way! Spring means warmer temperatures, flowers blooming, and most importantly Easter the commemoration of the resurrection of our Lord and Savior Jesus Christ.

At PCA Spring means daddy daughter dance, club baseball and softball, promotions and graduations.

Just as it's exciting to see the growth of God's creation in the spring, it's exciting to see the growth in our students at PCA throughout the year, academically, socially, physically and spiritually!

PCA will have their first ever middle school baseball club team and middle/high school softball club team. Practices are starting and the first game will be March 20th @ Creekside. There are currently twelve games scheduled for this season, the last game being May 5th. Our students are eager to get started! Let's go Mariners!!!

Mrs. French's class recently celebrated their IXL milestone this year! Their class has answered 20,000 Language/Math questions correctly! We are so proud of their accomplishments!

Recently, our students have been engaging in hands-on learning during STEM class! Thank you, Dr. Connell, for sparking curiosity and challenging our young minds at PCA!

With spring break approaching, a team of 9 students and 3 adults will be headed to Belize for our annual missions trip. Let's all keep our young disciples in our prayers that they have safe travels and show the love of Christ to the world!

Hale Receives CTE Teacher of the Year

Sheri Hale has been selected as the North Carolina Center for the Advancement of Teaching (NCCAT) Career and Technical Education (CTE) Teacher of the Year for Pamlico County Schools. She is our local winner and will be nominated by our district for regional and state recognition.

Ms. Hale was selected as our recipient based on her excellent work in our CTE program at Pamlico County Middle School. She currently teaches STEM classes (specifically Engineering & Technology) at Pamlico County Middle School and has made a tremendous effort in chartering a SkillsUSA chapter at PCMS. She has many students actively engaged in this student organization, developing their own leadership potential, and has taken the group on several field trips this year. Just last Friday they travelled to Winterville to attend the SkillsUSA Regional Rally. In addition, Ms. Hale has developed an excellent partnership with FRC East and has had engineers make frequent visits to her classroom to give her students real-world experiences and develop their interest in future careers in STEM. Mrs. Hale was also featured in an episode of the syndicated TV program N. C. STEM Explorers.

Middle school STEM classes are such a natural fit in our Career and Technical Education program in Pamlico County Schools. CTE gives students an opportunity to explore and develop their career interests, making learning relevant and meaningful. Classroom principles come to life in each CTE program area as students are able to apply their knowledge in hands-on applications and truly learn by doing.

FINANCIAL FOCUS

Financial moves for military families

Dan M. Roberts

Military families face many challenges — one of which is the need to build and manage their financial resources. If you are connected to the military, either as an active member or as part of a family, what are some of the issues you face? And what opportunities are available to you?

To begin with, when trying to save and invest for retirement, military families encounter two main difficulties. First, many military service members don't remain in the armed forces long enough to earn a pension. And second, because military families move around so much, military spouses often don't stay at a job long enough to become eligible to receive employer contributions to retirement plans or to become vested in these plans.

However, military spouses who couldn't fully participate in employer-sponsored retirement plans in the past now have a new opportunity. As part of 2022 legislation known as SECURE 2.0, small employers — defined as having 100 or fewer employees earning at least $5,000 in annual compensation — can receive a tax credit of up to $500 for three years if they make military spouses eligible for a defined contribution plan, such as a 401(k), 403(b), SEP IRA and SIMPLE IRA. The credit is available for the year in which the military spouse is hired, plus the two following taxable years.

Spouses' contributions to retirement plans can certainly be one part of the retirement income picture for military families. But military members may also want to contribute to the Thrift Savings Plan, which functions much like 401(k) plans in the private sector. Specifically, if you're in the military, you can make pre-tax contributions, or after-tax (Roth) contributions, or both. By visiting the Thrift Savings Plan's website at www.tsp.gov, you can learn about investing in the plan, and you can find tips on various life events, such as buying a house.

Another savings opportunity is available for military personnel who have served in designated combat zones. If you're eligible, you can deposit up to $10,000 and receive a 10% interest rate — an amount far above the rates typically paid by traditional savings accounts and even high-yield savings accounts. You can learn more about this program at www.dfas.mil/MilitaryMembers/sdp/.

And you may also be able to gain valuable financial benefits for education through the Post-9/11 GI Bill. Even if you're a veteran who doesn't plan to go back to school, you may be able to transfer the GI Bill's benefits to your spouse or child. To find out more about this program, go to www.va.gov and hit the "apply for education benefits" link.

Finally, health insurance is another financial issue that military personnel and their families need to consider. If you're still on active duty, you have to enroll in TRICARE, and if you're veteran, you are likely still eligible for TRICARE coverage, along with your VA benefits. But there are different TRICARE options available, so you'll want to find the plan that's right for your needs. To familiarize yourself with what's available, visit www.tricare.mil.

By making the right financial moves, military families like yours can go a long way toward achieving the dignity and security you deserve. Make sure you're exploring all your opportunities.

Pamlico County Spring Clean Sweep 2023

Daniel Simpson, County Extension Director, Agriculture Agent

On April 15, 2023, from 10:00AM to 2:00PM, Pamlico County Government is hosting a citizens Clean Sweep event to collect roadside litter from across Pamlico County. Roadside litter is an ever-present problem that detracts from the beauty of our local landscapes and poses risks to our environment.

In 2021, over $19 million dollars was spent in North Carolina to clean up roadside litter. Litter endangers wildlife with physical and toxicological hazards from ingestion and entanglement, can reduce property values, and discourage customers from entering businesses. Aquatic habitats can also be affected, reducing survivability for various aquatic organisms.

So, what can you do to help prevent the problem of litter in Pamlico County? According to the North Carolina Department of Public Safety, one of the largest contributing factors to roadside litter is from unsecured loads in trucks. Trash and light items can easily be blown from a truck bed and large heavy items can be lost at high speeds. By securing your load with a tarp, net, rope or chain, you can help prevent items from becoming litter, while aiding in the protection of other motorists that might be struck by debris.

Pamlico County is also a member of the Coastal Environmental Partnership that provides solid waste disposal to the citizens of Craven, Carteret and Pamlico County. There is a local transfer station located at 3291 Hwy. 306 North, Grantsboro, NC, which provides for convenient and inexpensive disposal of solid waste. Pamlico County also operates a recycling convenience center at this location, accepting items such as batteries, cans, plastics, paper, glass, tires, and appliances. For more information about these services, visit the Pamlico County Solid Waste and Recycling website at <https://www.pamlicocounty.org/recycling-solid-waste.aspx>.

Additional convenience recycling sites are staffed several times a week across the county to help collect recyclables and discourage illegal dumping of non-recyclable waste. Residents should check the schedule of locations to ensure the site is open, as locations rotate during the week <https://www.pamlicocounty.org/recycling-convenience-centers.aspx>.

Hallowed Ground Lantern Tour

Exciting Storytelling Event Returns!

NEW BERN, NC, The New Bern Historical Society invites you to an exciting storytelling event, the Hallowed Ground Lantern Tour, March 23, 24 & 25, 6-9pm. New Bern Battlefield Park, site of the first Battle of New Bern, is host to this intriguing event. The tour takes you on a 60-minute guided, lantern-lit walk through the wooded battlefield trails, where spirits of real characters from New Bern's past will share their very human and inspiring stories of courage and conviction.

You will hear from the family members of men hung without a trial for alleged desertion . . . a women disguised as a man to fight alongside her husband . . . a tale of two friends who find themselves on opposing sides. . . a skilled nurse who also happened to be a spy . . . and more. End your evening with songs and stories about the Underground Railroad in the tent.

Historical Society Executive Director, Mickey Miller is excited about this compelling storytelling event. "We introduced this event during the pandemic and it was so popular we knew we had to repeat it. This is not a program about the war or a battlefield tour – it's about the human side of folks who found themselves caught in the conflict. It showcases the talent of our local actors and the hallowed ground of New Bern Battlefield Park." These are poignant and gripping tales from civilians, formerly-enslaved persons, and combatants, who happened to find themselves in a country at war. Their narratives are largely based on letters, diaries, and contemporaneous accounts.

Pre-paid reservations are required with specific day & arrival time. Tickets are $16 for Historical Society adult members, $20 adult non-members, and $16 for students and active-duty military. Space is limited. Reservations are available at www.NewBernHistorical.org/tickets . Not suitable for children under 7 or those with difficulty walking.

The mission of the New Bern Historical Society is to celebrate and promote New Bern and its heritage through events and education. Offices are in the historic Attmore-Oliver House at 511 Broad Street in New Bern. AROUND THE COUNTY

Pamlico Betty Jo Rodgers, Correspondent

Roy and I rode to Pamlico and visited with two residents who live near graveyard point. Susan graciously let us turn around at her house and then we stopped and chatted with Tommy Lupton. We rode around the neck (Orchard Creek Road) to see the new development of people moving into the area with campers and new homes. We also saw where loggers had removed so much of the timber.

I spoke with Ms. Reba Tiller, and she is doing better and hopes to be coming home from physical therapy in about a week. Her son has been gracious to write her articles for her.

I saw Vicky-Mosely Jones as she was exiting church today and she was on her way to Mesic for a Jones family memorial service. She told me there had been a highway 304 festival at the boat ramp in Vandemere over the weekend. She said there was a bouncy house for the children, good food for the adults, and speeches by the mayors of some of the small communities on highway 304. I am just hearing about it, or I would have liked to go check it out.

The Pamlico Youth Group will meet at Stonewall Methodist Church March 12th from 3:00-5:00 pm. They are meeting every second and fourth Sunday of the month. All county youth in grades 6-12 are invited to attend. They plan to do a service project at least once a month.

The Stonewall Men's Group will have a breakfast in the fellowship hall at 7:30 am on Sunday, March 12, 2023. The Stonewall Methodist Women of Faith will meet at 7:30 pm on the 14th of March.

Bayboro United Methodist Church and their pastor, the Reverend John Farmer, host lunchtime worship services every Wednesday during Lent. Reverend Joyce Bell (retired AME) brought a powerful message on love last week. Reverend Betty Joe Rodgers (Stonewall Methodist Church) will bring the message on March 8, 2023, Reverend Roy Rodgers (retired UMC) will preach on the 15th, and Reverend Scott Fitzgerald will be preaching on the 22nd. Everyone is invited to attend these noon worship services and remain for the fellowship meal that follows each Wednesday during Lent. This week the meal is being provided by a fantastic cook from Stonewall. You don't want to miss it.

Celebrating birthdays in March are Lester Carey (3/8), Cameron Paul (3/10), Larry Gracie (3/13), Lisa Franklin Jackson & Maurice Benton (3/15), Frank Bacon & Patrick Phillips (3/21), Heath Fulcher (3/24), Nancy Smith (3/25), Emma Machle & Joanna Harrell (3/27), Asa Gatlin (3/29), Debbie Willis Fulcher (3/30), and Santa Klotz (3/31).

Daylight Saving Time begins on Sunday, March 12 and St. Patrick's Day is March 17.

With lively dialogue, plot twists and comic confrontations, this show is for everyone!

Audiences can catch this fun filled Bill Hand comedy mystery in four locations. Find Who Murthered the Pinkerton Man March 15 for members at The Emerald Golf Course; March 23 at Carolina Home and Garden in Newport; March 31 at Carolina Colours Pavilion; and April 6 at Tap That Craft Beer and Wine Bar in New Bern. For reservations, contact each venue directly. Information is available below and at www.NCHistoryTheater.org/calendar Audiences will meet Mervin McVale and his Little Women – a father, mother and daughter who travel the country performing some (just between us) really horrible Shakespeare where ever they go. Then there's crazy, maloprop-ridden Captain Stacey of the US Army and his more level-headed sergeant Bride. They were escorting the Pinkerton man and a southern spy named Jane Dade who's ability to escape rivals Houdini. And, of course, as the play unfolds we find these six characters have an awful lot in common with that mysterious map of treasure hidden by them or their relatives back in the Mexican-American War.

Guests get to peruse the map and its clues to see if they can break the code while, of course, the characters visit their tables between scenes to answer questions and discuss the crime.

Kay O'Donahue and Stephen Elliot face off in "Who Murthered the Pinkerton Man?"

SRO Update

by: Hiram Lupton

If you have been following the storyline lately you know that Pamlico County Schools received grant money from the state to hire additional School Resource Officers (SRO's), and the county Board of Commissioners voted to provide the additional needed funds to bridge the gap in salary and equipment expenditures for these new positions. SRO's were a topic on Monday evening at both the School Board meeting and the Board of Commissioners meeting. Superintendent Lisa Jackson gave an update to the School Board that indeed one new officer had been hired and was already on duty at Pamlico Middle School and that they hoped to hire another officer very soon. Just about an hour later at the Board of Commissioners meeting, there was an item on the consent agenda to approve the hiring of an SRO with a starting salary of $51,000 or less per year. At the request of Commissioner Missy Baskerville, the item was shifted to the correspondence agenda ostensibly to get a better understanding of where the money was coming from for the salary and the county's share of it. After an explanation from County Manager Tim Buck that the funding was in line with what the Board had previously approved, the hiring was approved by a 5-1 vote with one commissioner absent, and Baskerville voting against the motion to hire.

Signs of septic system malfunction

Homeowners recognize that their work is never done. Homes require maintenance that runs the gamut from daily tasks like cleaning kitchen countertops to more significant undertakings like replacing roofs. For many homeowners, keeping their homes running smoothly involves tending to septic systems.

Estimates from various sources indicate that roughly one in five homes in the United States has a septic system. Homeowners who live in areas with regional sewage systems may not give much thought to the operation and maintenance of their wastewater and disposal system. But that responsibility typically rests squarely on the shoulders of homeowners whose homes have septic systems. Learning to maintain septic systems so they operate safely and efficiently is essential. Homeowners should know that recognizing signs of septic system malfunction is vital to avoiding potentially costly, messy accidents that can put the health of humans and local wildlife in jeopardy.

What happens when a septic system malfunctions?

The Washington State Department of Health notes that a malfunctioning septic system is a threat to the health of both humans and animals as well as the environment. When a septic system is malfunctioning, untreated sewage can be released and end up in places where it shouldn't be, such as groundwater, surface water and marine water. That's true even if it's not visible to the naked eye. Humans and animals are in danger when septic systems malfunction because untreated sewage contains pathogens and other contaminants that can make them sick.

What are the signs of a malfunctioning septic system?

Properly maintained septic systems should provide reliable service for many years. Part of that maintenance is keeping an eye out for these signs that suggest a system is malfunctioning or failing:

- Water and sewage from toilets, drains and sinks is backing up into the home
- Bathtubs, showers, and sinks drain very slowly
- Gurgling sounds are coming from the plumbing system
- Standing water or damp spots near the septic tank or drain field
- Bad odors around the septic tank or drain field
- Bright green, spongy lush grass over the septic tank or drain field, even during dry weather
- Algal blooms in nearby ponds or lakes
- High levels of nitrates or coliform bacteria in water wells
- Homeowners with septic systems should make tending to those systems part of their routine home maintenance.

A person walks into an auto shop and says, "I'd like a gas cap for my KIA."

The car mechanic thinks for a few moments says, "OK, that seems like a fair trade."

PUBLIC NOTICE

TEMPORARY CHANGE OF WATER TREATMENT PROCESS

From March 15,2023 through May 15, 2023, the Pamlico County Water Department will change its drinking water disinfectant from chloramines to chlorine. The purpose of this change, which occurs annually, is to help ensure a high level of disinfection in our community's network of water mains.

In an effort to maintain compliance the disinfection by-product requirements of the Safe Drinking Water Act (SDWA) the Pamlico County Water System utilizes chloramination at its water treatment facility. Chloramination is the controlled application of ammonia to the chlorination, does not react with naturally occurring organic material in the source water to form disinfection by-products currently regulated by the SDWA.

Water systems that utilize chloramination must periodically return to the free chlorine process. This change provides additional assurance that the proper disinfection of water in the system is maintained.

Most customers probably will not detect the difference; however, those with a keen sense of taste or smell may detect a slight chlorine odor in the water during this period. This would be due to the presence of residual chlorine rather than odorless residual chloramines.
